FITZGERALD AND VANDENBERG ELECTED

NEW DIVISION IN CONGRESS IS FORESEEN

ECONOMIC LINES TO BE FOLLOWED, IT IS BELIEVED

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—A new division in congress along economic rather than party lines, regardless of whether there is a re-alignment of parties themselves, was foreshadowed by the Democratic sweep in the off-year elections.

With the senate almost three-fourths Democratic, the aisle which has separated the party seats for many years will be largely obliterated figuratively as well as literally.

The disregard of party lines which marked the voting on so many issues at the last session will, in the opinion of most observers here, become even more apparent in the new congress.

This will come, many believe, not only because of the unwieldy majority on the Democratic side, but because the thin Republican ranks will be made up about half by senators who have frequently voted with the administration in the past.

Personnel Changes

With the party line-up apparently destined to remain about the same in the house, there will not be the noticeable change there that is assured in the senate. But even in the house there has been a weeding out of some of the outstanding Republican talwarts and many changes in personel among the Democrats.

Maintenance of the Democratic majority in the house, and therefore of the power of the speakership, will add zest to the contest for that post, vacated by the death of the late Speaker Rainey.

The increased size of the senate Democratic majority will bring little change in its leadership.

A striking change, however, is destined in the complexion of the Republican group in the senate. Although Senator McNary (R. Ore.) will remain as leader, he will have under him a group divided almost evenly between the once dominant regulars and a group of independents of varying degree who frequently disregard the party traces.

Gone from McNary's command will be every one of the regular leaders of two years ago who up to that time dictated the party's policies. Today's final returns showed that Reed, of Pennsylvania; Fess of Ohio; Robinson of Indiana; Herbert of Rhode Island and others had joined the list of "former senators," following the elimination two years ago of Smoot, of Utah; Watson, of Indiana; Moses of New Hampshire, and Bingham, of Connecticut.

Vandenberg Elevated

New blood will step up to fill the vacancies in Republican leadership. One who will play a more prominent role than heretofore will be Vandenberg, of Michigan, one of the few contesting senate Republicans who came unscathed through the Democratic cloudburst yesterday.

Vandenberg has been neither a "regular" nor an "independent" in the Republican ranks. He was one of the leaders of the "young Turk" movement which rebelled a few years ago aagainst the "old guard" leadership of

SINCLAIR SCANS ELECTION RUINS

Plans for 'Epic' Drive Not Abandoned, Says Defeated Leader

San Francisco, Nov. 7 (AP)—While Upton Sinclair in seclusion, surveyed today the ruins of his "epic" Democratic drive for the governorship of California, a meeting of epic executives and campaigners was called in Los Angeles to consider plans for marching on with their program to abolish poverty and put the unemployed to work.

The gubernatorial victor, Frank F. Merriam, (R) happily claimed the election "demonstrated the essential common sense of the people of California."

Former President Herbert Hoover telegraphed congratulations to Merriam and George H. Hatfield, Republican lieutenant governor-elect, but made no public comment on the election.

Hour by hour the figures on yesterday's battle of ballots added to the Republican triumph in the state, but at the same time the "epic" champion professed to find encouragement in them even in defeat.

The returns still were far from complete and Sinclair had rolled up a vote approaching three quarters of a million despite the fact his novel bid for power had been fought as radical and communistic.

Sinclair chuckled as he referred to the election outcome.

"If we had had a better candidate," he said, "we might have won."

He called himself "an author of too many books trying to be a politician."

Four Accused In Election Slayings

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 7. (AP)—County Detective Joseph Bruno and three members of his family today were formally charged with the slaying of five men in the ambushing of an election eve Democratic parade.

Meanwhile, Kelayres, mountain mining town, scene of the tragedy in which 15 others were wounded, and the neighboring town of McAdoo prepared to close their collieries and stores Friday for the funeral of the victims.

Joseph F. Guffey and George H. Earle, successful Democratic candidates for United States senator and governor, respectively, will attend the funeral and the entire state Democratic ticket will be honorary pallbearers.

McFadden Defeated, Returns Indicate

Harrisburgh, Pa., Nov. 7. (AP)—The defeat of Representative Louis T. McFadden, veteran Republican in congress who tried to impeach President Hoover, was indicated today in almost complete returns from the 15th congressional district.

McFadden, who twice defeated Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the governor, in primary contests, trailed C. Elmer Dietrich, Democrat, by 857 votes with only two precincts in the eight counties of the district unreported.

The vote: Dietrich 39,190; McFadden 38,338.

Toss of Coin May Decide Control of House Membership

Lansing, Nov. 7 (AP)—A toss of the coin may decide whether either major political party will have a majority of the house membership in the next session of the legislature.

Fifty Democrats and 49 Republicans apparently have been elected to membership in the house, according to unoffical returns compiled by Myles F. Gray, clerk. Another contest ended in a tie.

Rep. Joseph Green, of Crystal Falls, Republican incumbent from the iron district, and his Democratic opponent, John Scott, Sr., of Iron River, battled to a draw in their election skirmish. Unless a recount is demanded, the election will be decided by the flip of a coin.

Turbulent Session Ahead

A turbulent session of the legislature was forecast in view of the make-up of the house. The Democrats are assured of at least an even division in the membership. Should Green win out in the iron district, there will be an equal number of Republicans and Democrats in the lower branch of the legislature for the first time since 1891.

Republicans will have a wide margin in the next senate, according to a similar report compiled by Don W. Canfield, secretary. His report shows 19 Republicans and 11 Democrats in the lead while two districts remain unreported. Twenty-two members are necessary for a two-thirds majority.

Early interest will center on the election of a speaker of the house. Republicans have Rep. George C. Watson, of Capac; Vernon J. Brown, of Mason, and H. Earl McNitt, of Cadillac, as veteran members returning and highly regarded for the office. Rep. George A. Schroeder, Detroit, Democrat, has been regarded as the outstanding Democratic candidate with Rep. M. Clyde Stout, of Ionia, also highly considered.

Several veteran members of the house went down to defeat, including Rep. Gus T. Hartman, of Houghton, Republican leader, who had been considered a candidate for speaker.

Rep. Ate Dykstra, Republican of Grand Rapids, failed in his effort for re-election to a seventh term. John Dykstra, veteran Republican, from Muskegon, was likewise upset. On the Democratic side, Adrian C. Barr, militant orator from Shepard, went down to defeat. Harvey Hope Jarvis, of Benton Harbor, storm center of lobbying charges in the last session, was re-elected.

Democrats showed unexpected strength in the upper peninsula, capturing all but four seats in that section of the state. One of them ended in a tie. Democrats were elected to each of the seventeen

CHIEF PLEASED WITH ELECTION

Roosevelt Heads Back to White House to Dine With LaFollette

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt headed back to the White House tonight, obviously cheerful but silent over the election which gave an almost unprecedented congressional majority for his new deal.

He offered no comment on the election returns at his regular semi-weekly press conference. He spoke informally of plans for the future of the recovery efforts but reserved any announcements.

There was a jest about reports as to how he had voted and that he had voted the straight Democratic ticket. He declined to disclose his vote, but some were inclined to speculate that perhaps once again he had given a mark to some individual Republicans.

Tomorrow the president will have luncheon with Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin Republican independent on the Progressive ticket, who won yesterday. The luncheon was arranged several days before election.

Praises Editorial

Very apparently, presidential attention is centered on the unemployment and budget problems. Senator LaFollette has been closely involved in the legislation for relief.

There was one observation by the president on the election. He picked up an editorial published in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle on the afternoon of election before results were tabulated.

Mr. Roosevelt described it as one of the best things said about Democratic government in a long while. He emphasized no particular part and suggested that it be read in full.

"We often forget that democracy is merely an experiment," said a part of the editorial. "It has been tried by many countries at different times. The tragedy of our times is that liberalism and democracy seem to be losing ground as one national after another has set a dictatorship. We have heard a lot of talk about Fascism and Communism, and our intelligentsia speaks glibly of this government swinging to the right or to the left, but there is no sign of anything of the kind today. We are simply having another election."

Mr. Roosevelt arranged to take a special train before midnight for Washington. At the capital and at Warm Springs, Ga., later this month, he will consult with the congressional leaders.

Federal Agents Have Good Record In Kidnap Cases

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—This is the score marked up by the department of justice since passage of the Lindbergh law gave it authority to go after kidnapers:

Total cases 32; suspects awaiting trial, 18; convictions, 74. Sentences amounting to more than 1,500 years have been imposed, in addition to 16 life terms. Two death sentences have been imposed; three suspect killed themselves; 10 were acquitted and five cases were nolle prossed.

Child Operated On At Birth Recovers

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 7. (AP)—Patricia Ann Womble, 16 days old, went home from the hospital today, apparently well on the way to recovery from a double operation performed when she was 20 minutes old.

Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Womble, survived operations for the removal of her apuendix and the righting of misplaced abdominal organs. She was put on the operating table 20 minutes after her birth.

RITCHIE LOSES MARYLAND VOTE

Four Term Governor Is Defeated by Nice for Re-election

Baltimore, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Baltimore Run, which vigorously supported Governor Albert C. Ritchie's candidacy for a fifth term in office, late tonight conceded the election of Harry W. Nice, Republican.

With only 23 of the state's 1376 precincts left to be heard from, Nice had a lead of 3321. At that time the vote stood: Nice, 240,713; Ritchie, 237,392.

Governor Ritchie himself declined to make a statement. He was in conference with a number of political leaders late tonight.

Ritchie carried Baltimore city by approximately 21,000 votes and slow returns from the 23 counties did not cut materially into the lead until late today. Tonight, however, the vote from Republican and anti-Ritchie strongholds suddenly turned the tide. From then on Nice's lead increased with but few setbacks.

GOP FORCES IN STATE GET 11 HOUSE SEATS

SIX DEMOCRATS IN MICHIGAN SENT TO CONGRESS

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—Michigan's delegation in the national house of representatives, preponderantly Democratic during the last session for the first time in years, again has assumed a marked Republican tone.

Eleven Republicans and six Democrats were elected yesterday, on the face of nearly complete returns.

Five districts that went Democratic two years ago swung back to their traditional Republicanism. One district, the twelfth, that had been Republican for many years, veered into the Democratic column, in probably the biggest upset of the state's congressional elections.

The victim was Rep. W. Frank James, who has represented the district since 1914. The hand of Emil Hurja, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee was seen by many in that overturn, for Hurja is a native of the district and gave the campaign of Frank E. Hook, the successful Democratic candidate, his personal assistance.

Michael Hart Ousted

Rep. Carl E. Mapes, the Republican who has represented the fifth district since 1913, narrowly escaped becoming the victim of another upset, but finally won out over Thomas F. McAllister by nearly 3,000 votes.

The Democratic casualties included Reps. John C. Lehr, who lost the veteran former Representative Earl C. Michener in another close race in the second; Rep. George Foulkes, Rep. Claude E. Cady, who voted with the administration on every roll call during the special session; Michael J. Hart and Harry W. Musselwhite.

The results by districts:

First—Rep. George G. Sadowski (D) was an easy victor over Charles A. Roxborough, negro.

Second—With only one precinct missing Michener (R) had 39,764 to 38,604 for Rep. Lehr (D).

Third—Henry H. Kimball (R) had 34,646 to 27,717 for Paul H. Todd (D) in 173 of the 197 precincts and will occupy the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Joseph L. Hooper (R).

Fourth—Clare E. Hoffman (R) had 40,866 to 28,481 for Rep. Foulkes (D) in 165 of the 183 precincts.

Fifth—Rep. Mapes (R), with eight precincts missing, had 39,329 to 36,740 for McAllister (D).

Sixth—With four precincts missing, William W. Blackney (R), who describes himself as a "sound money" man, had 41,284

$20,000,000 In Gold Shipped To America

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Some $20,000,000 of gold mostly from France, is on the way to New York from Europe, it was learned in financial circles today.

The metal is moving in response to weakness of the European gold currencies in terms of dollars. It has become profitable to buy foreign currencies at their present cheapened levels turn the proceeds into gold in Paris and resell the gold in New York in return for higher-priced dollars.

Most of the gold-bloc units, including the currencies of France, Belgium, Switzerland and Holland, dipped to the gold-shipping levels last week. A little gold was then engaged as a result.

Possible Results of Election Are Studied

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Of the major questions thrust forward by yesterday's Democratic election sweep, two stand out above all others:

Will the forces of liberlism which massed at the ballot box push the pendulum of administration policy still further to the left, producing a new cycle of spending, new advances in social legislations, and new projects for the control of business?

Which way will the Republican party go now, and when and how will the struggle for mastery of that party in 1936 begin?

Neither of these questions is easy to answer. On both sides, and especially among the Republicans, there is apparent a certain bewilderment over the magnitude of the Democratic victory. Until that phase passes, to predict specific policies would be merely to guess. The elements of uncertainty are many.

Conservatives Ousted

In one sense, it is possible to regard in election results as a pronounced shove of the pendulum to the left. By and large, those who were defeated were right-wingers. They condemned the spending program, complained of government restrictions on business, asked for an end to uncertainty at Washington. By and large those who won defended the spending, agreed with the restrictions, and excused the uncertainty.

The natural thing would be to suppose that the decisive results of the election would forecast

Weak from hunger and two weeks' confinement in the opium-laden darkness of the cellar dungeon in which the gang that smuggled them into the United States had concealed them, these Chinese youths are shown philosophically accepting their new status as prisoners of federal agents, who rescued them in a raid on a deserted mansion at Keyport, N. J. Three of the 18 men seized are pictured at Keyport before being sent to Ellis Island.

De Priest Loses To Another Negro

Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP)—A scholarly negro lawyer from the old south has unseated Rep. Oscar De Priest to be the first of his race on the Democratic side of congress.

By a margin of 3,000 votes Arthur W. Mitchell, 37, one time office boy to Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute, was declared elected by the first Illinois district that since 1928 has been represented by the only negro congressman, the elderly De Priest. The board of election commissioners gave the vote, still unofficially totaled, as: Mitchell 27,970, De Priest 24,840.

NEW DEAL GETS WIDE APPROVAL

Democratic Forces in Full Control at Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The new deal, just two years old but grown into a giant under President Roosevelt's care, was shown today to have consumated the most devastating off-year political sweep in more than a century.

Late returns from Tuesday's balloting found the Democratic forces with a beter than 3 to 1 majority in the house, and better than 2 to 1 in the senate.

In the senate, should Senators Cutting, independent Republican, and Hatch, Roosevelt Democrat, hold their leads in the long and short terms contests in New Mexico, the line-up will be:

Democrats 69; Republicans 24; Progressives and Farmer Laborites one apiece.

In the house, with only a handful of contests undecided and with the new deal forces mathematically sure of swelling their huge majority, the line-up, almost completed, early today stood:

Democrats 311; Republicans 101; Progressives 7, and Farmer Laborites 3.

Crushing Sweep

In the 33 gubernatorial contests, with Republican Harry W. Nice apparently having blasted the fifth torm hopes of Democratic Governor Albert C. Ritchie in Maryland, the Democratic forces apparently were successful in 24 instances. Republicans appeared to have won seven seats, with the Progressives and Farmer Laborites holding one apiece. This

Two Revolters In Spain Are Executed

Madrid, Nov. 7 (AP) A large glass of cognac at the last to brace them, two men who shed soldiers' blood in Spain's red revolt went bravely to their death today.

While syndicalist leaders through the nation strove futilely to rally workers in general strikes they hoped would stop the executions, rifles cracked at Gijon to end the lives of Joe Nardedo and Joe Guerra Pardo, Asturian rebel leaders.

The men were two of 23 found guilty in courts-martial of causing the death of soldiers and civil guards. There were no mitigating circumstances in their cases, the courts found, preventing their receiving commuted sentences such as were given the other 21.

JOHN K. STACK AND FRY HOLD WIDE MARGINS

CONTEST OF SECRETARY OF STATE IS CLOSE

Detroit, Nov. 7. (AP)—Frank D Fitzgerald, Republican secretary of state, maintained his lead of slightly more than 75,000 in a tabulation late tonight of the votes in his gubernatorial race with Arthur J. Lacy, Democrat.

Only 151 precincts were missing. The tabulation of the ballots cast in 3,300 of Michigan's 3,451 precincts in Tuesday election gave Fitzgerald, 627,626; Lacy, 551,102.

Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican incumbent, had a lead of some 46,000 over Frank A. Picard, Democratic nominee for the United States senate, in 3,285 precincts. The vote was: Vandenberg, 592,116; Picard, 546,844.

The standing in other state ticket races:

Lieutenant Governor, 3,071 precincts, Thomas Reed, Republican, 522,919; Allen E. Stebbins, Democratic incumbent, 501,698.

Secretary of State, 3,317 precincts, Orville E. Atwood, Republican, 553,947; Guy M. Wilson, Democrat, 548,804.

State Treasurer, 3,279 precincts, Theodore I. Fry, Democratic incumbent, 555,690; Gilbert H. Isbister, Republican, 542,133.

Auditor General, 3,284 precincts, John K. Stack, Jr., Democratic incumbent, 560,077; Harry D. Brackett, Republican, 538,057.

Attorney General, 3,059 precincts, Harry S. Toy, Republican, 537,674; Patrick H. O'Brien, Democratic incumbent, 491,407.

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Detroit, Nov. 7. (AP)—Michigan stood alone in the nation tonight in its thorough renunciation of new deal candidates.

An almost complete tabulation of the vote cast in Tuesday's general election disclosed that a Republican United States senator had been retained, a Republican governor had been named to succeed a Democratic executive, four Democratic congressional seats had been seized by the once more majority Republican party and the Democratic majority in the legislature evidently had been upset.

In addition the Republicans elected two and possibly three state officers below governor. A close contest remained to be settled to determine whether a Republican or Democrat will assume the office of secretary of state next January. Only a few hundred votes separated Orville E. Atwood, Republican candidate, and Major General Guy M. Wilson, Democrat. Two Democratic state officers appeared to have survived the Republican upheaval. They were Theodore I. Fry, state treasurer and John K. Stack, Jr., auditor general.

Republicans Jubilant

The tide of politics flowed again in almost normal channels as state leaders surveyed the results of the balloting. Re-election of the two Democratic state officers was the only fly in their ointment and they were not particularly disturbed about that in view of the showing they made as compared with other states. The wave of endorsement for Democratic policies and candidates that swept the rest of the nation left Michigan virtually untouched and conspicuously in the vanguard of national republicanism.

Howard C. Lawrence, chairman of the Republican state central committee, described it as one of the greatest victories in the history of the party.

"We criticized the parts of the new deal to which we objected and we opposed candidates and policies we did not like, and won," Lawrence said. "Michigan is in a position now to lead the nation back into the Republican fold two years hence."

An almost final tally of the vote showed that Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald defeated Arthur J. Lacy, Democrat, for the governorship by around 75,000 votes. Senator Arthur H. Vanden-

DEMOS WIN IN PENNSYLVANIA

Smashing New Deal Victory Scored in Old GOP Stronghold

BY LEO W. SHERIDAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—A smashing New Deal victory straight down the ticket completed the rout tonight of Republicans from control of their Keystone state for the first time in more than a half century.

On top of a stunning defeat of the stalwart Senator David A. Reed, Republicans were toppled from the governorship, other state offices, several congressional seats, and control of the state house of representatives.

Reed, unrelenting critic of the New Deal, conceded the victory of Joseph F. Guffey, who helped swing the 1932 Democratic convention to Roosevelt.

The jovial Pittsburgh oil man, who calls the president "God's inspired servant," had rolled up a lead of 119,694 over Reed in almost complete unofficial returns.

Guffey will be the first Democrat Pennsylvania has sent to the senate in 60 years.

Earle Is Governor

At the same time, Democrats will take over the state government for the first time in 40 years, as George H. Earle, who resigned as minster to Austria to become the Democratic candidate, will succeed Gifford Pinchot, the Independent Republican, as governor. Earle defeated William A. Schnader, Pinchot's attorney general, by about 57,000, incomplete figure show.

The Democrats made big inroads in Pennsylvania's Republican delegation in congress, wrested majority control of the state house of

DEATH CLAIMS PAUL JAEGER

Pioneer Escanaba Resident Passes Away At Hospital

Paul Jaeger, 69, one of this community's pioneer citizens, passed away at 12 o'clock last night at St. Francis hospital after an illness of about a year. Death was caused by heart trouble and complications. Mr. Jaeger's health had been failing for the past year and the past two weeks he was confined to the local hospital. He made his home with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beltzer, 304 North Eleventh street.

For many years before the prohibition era Mr. Jaeger operated a saloon at 1022 Ludington street and with the advent of prohibition he continued to operate the establishment as a dispensary of soft beverages. About eight years ago Mr. Jaeger sold his property to the J. C. Penney company and retired. Mr. Jaeger was an alderman in the city under the old plan of government numerous times.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home for burial preparation, but no funeral arrangements have been made.

He is survived by a son, Henry, of Milwaukee; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Beltzer, Escanaba; and a brother, Max, of Iron River, and nine grandchildren.

Harrisburgh, Pa., Nov. 7. (AP)—The defeat of Representative Louis T. McFadden, veteran Republican in congress who tried to impeach President Hoover, was indicated today in almost complete returns from the 15th congressional district.

McFadden, who twice defeated Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the governor, in primary contests, trailed C. Elmer Dietrich, Democrat, by 852 votes with only two precincts in the eight counties of the district unreported.

The vote: Dietrich 39,190; McFadden 38,338.

Toss of Coin May Decide Control of House Membership

Lansing, Nov. 7 (AP)—A toss of the coin may decide whether either major political party will have a majority of the house membership in the next session of the legislature.

Fifty Democrats and 49 Republicans apparently have been elected to membership in the house, according to unoffical returns compiled by Myles F. Gray, clerk. Another contest ended in a tie.

Rep. Joseph Green, of Crystal Falls, Republican incumbent from the iron district, and his Democratic opponent, John Scott, Sr., of Iron River, battled to a draw in their election skirmish. Unless a recount is demanded, the election will be decided by the flip of a coin.

Turbulent Session Ahead

A turbulent session of the legislature was forecast in view of the make-up of the house. The Democrats are assured of at least an even division in the membership. Should Green win out in the iron district, there will be an equal number of Republicans and Democrats in the lower branch of the legislature for the first time since 1891.

Republicans will have a wide margin in the next senate, according to a similar report compiled by Don W. Canfield, secretary. His report shows 19 Republicans and 11 Democrats in the lead while two districts remain unreported. Twenty-two members are necessary for a two-thirds majority.

Early interest will center on the election of a speaker of the house. Republicans have Rep. George C. Watson, of Capac; Vernon J. Brown, of Mason, and H. Earl McNitt, of Cadillac, as veteran members returning and highly regarded for the office. Rep. George A. Schroeder, Detroit, Democrat, has been regarded as the outstanding Democratic candidate with Rep. M. Clyde Stout, of Ionia, also highly considered.

Several veteran members of the house went down to defeat, including Rep. Gus T. Hartman, of Houghton, Republican leader, who had been considered a candidate for speaker.

Rep. Ate Dykstra, Republican of Grand Rapids, failed in his effort for re-election to a seventh term. John Dykstra, veteran Republican, from Muskegon, was likewise upset. On the Democratic side, Adrian C. Barr, militant orator from Shepard, went down to defeat. Harvey Hope Jarvis, of Benton Harbor, storm center of lobbying charges in the last session, was re-elected.

Democrats showed unexpected strength in the upper peninsula, capturing all but four seats in that section of the state. One of them ended in a tie. Democrats were elected to each of the seventeen

CHIEF PLEASED WITH ELECTION

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt headed back to the White House tonight, obviously cheerful but silent over the election which gave an almost unprecedented congressional majority for his new deal.

He offered no comment on the election returns at his regular semi-weekly press conference. He spoke informally of plans for the future of the recovery efforts but reserved any announcements.

There was a jest about reports as to how he had voted and that he had voted the straight Democratic ticket. He declined to disclose his vote, but some were inclined to speculate that perhaps once again he had given a mark to some individual Republicans.

Tomorrow the president will have luncheon with Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin Republican Independent on the Progressive ticket, who won yesterday. The luncheon was arranged several days before election.

Praises Editorial

Very apparently, presidential attention is centered on the unemployment and budget problems. Senator LaFollette has been closely involved in the legislation for relief.

There was one observation by the president on the election. He picked up an editorial published in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle on the afternoon of election before results were tabulated.

Mr. Roosevelt described it as one of the best things said about Democratic government in a long while. He emphasized no particular part and suggested that it be read in full.

"We often forget that democracy is merely an experiment," said a part of the editorial. "It has been tried by many countries at different times. The tragedy of our times is that liberalism and democracy seem to be losing ground as one national after another has set a dictatorship. We have heard a lot of talk about Fascism and Communism, and our intelligentsia speaks glibly of this government swinging to the right or to the left, but there is no sign of anything of the kind today. We are simply having another election."

Mr. Roosevelt arranged to take a special train before midnight for Washington. At the capital and at Warm Springs, Ga., later this month, he will consult with the congressional leaders.

Federal Agents Have Good Record In Kidnap Cases

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—This is the score marked up by the department of justice since passage of the Lindbergh law gave it authority to go after kidnapers:

Total cases 32; suspects awaiting trial, 18; convictions, 74. Sentences amounting to more than 1,500 years have been imposed, in addition to 16 life terms. Two death sentences have been imposed; three suspect killed themselves; 10 were acquitted and five cases were nolle prossed.

Child Operated On At Birth Recovers

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 7. (AP)—Patricia Ann Womble, 16 days old, went home from the hospital today, apparently well on the way to recovery from a double operation performed when she was 20 minutes old.

Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Womble, survived operations for the removal of her apuendix and the righting of misplaced abdominal organs. She was put on the operating table 20 minutes after her birth.

RITCHIE LOSES MARYLAND VOTE

Four Term Governor Is Defeated by Nice for Re-election

Baltimore, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Baltimore Run, which vigorously supported Governor Albert C. Ritchie's candidacy for a fifth term in office, late tonight conceded the election of Harry W. Nice, Republican.

With only 23 of the state's 1376 precincts left to be heard from, Nice had a lead of 3321. At that time the vote stood: Nice, 240,713; Ritchie, 237,392.

Governor Ritchie himself declined to make a statement. He was in conference with a number of political leaders late tonight.

Ritchie carried Baltimore city by approximately 21,000 votes and slow returns from the 23 counties did not cut materially into the lead until late today. Tonight, however, the vote from Republican and anti-Ritchie strongholds suddenly turned the tide. From then on Nice's lead increased with but few setbacks.

GOP FORCES IN STATE GET 11 HOUSE SEATS

SIX DEMOCRATS IN MICHIGAN SENT TO CONGRESS

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—Michigan's delegation in the national house of representatives, perponderantly Democratic during the last session for the first time in years, again has assumed a marked Republican tone.

Eleven Republicans and six Democrats were elected yesterday, on the face of nearly complete returns.

Five districts that went Democratic two years ago swung back to their traditional Republicanism. One district, the twelfth, that had been Republican for many years, veered into the Democratic column, in probably the biggest upset of the state's congressional elections.

The victim was Rep. W. Frank James, who has represented the district since 1914. The hand of Emil Hurja, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee was seen by many in that overturn, for Hurja is a native of the district and gave the campaign of Frank E. Hook, the successful Democratic candidate, his personal assistance.

Michael Hart Ousted

Rep. Carl E. Mapes, the Republican who has represented the fifth district since 1913, narrowly escaped becoming the victim of another upset, but finally won out over Thomas F. McAllister by nearly 3,000 votes.

The Democratic casualties included Reps. John C. Lehr, who lost the veteran former Representative Earl C. Michener in another close race in the second; Rep. George Foulkes, Rep. Claude E. Cady, who voted with the administration on every roll call during the special session; Michael J. Hart and Harry W. Musselwhite.

The results by districts:

First—Rep. George G. Sadowski (D) was an easy victor over Charles A. Roxborough, negro.

Second—With only one precinct missing Michener (R) had 39,764 to 38,604 for Rep. Lehr (D).

Third—Henry H. Kimball (R) had 34,646 to 27,717 for Paul H. Todd (D) in 173 of the 197 precincts and will occupy the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. Joseph L. Hooper (R).

Fourth—Clare E. Hoffman (R) had 40,866 to 28,481 for Rep. Foulkes (D) in 165 of the 183 precincts.

Fifth—Rep. Mapes (R), with eight precincts missing, had 39,329 to 36,740 for McAllister (D).

Sixth—With four precincts missing, William W. Blackney (R), who describes himself as a "sound money" man, had 41,284

$20,000,000 In Gold Shipped To America

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Some $20,000,000 of gold mostly from France, is on the way to New York from Europe, it was learned in financial circles today.

The metal is moving in response to weakness of the European gold currencies in terms of dollars. It has become profitable to buy foreign currencies at their present cheapened levels turn the proceeds into gold in Paris and resell the gold in New York in return for higher-priced dollars.

Most of the gold-bloc units, including the currencies of France, Belgium, Switzerland and Holland, dipped to the gold-shipping levels last week. A little gold was then engaged as a result.

Possible Results of Election Are Studied

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Of the major questions thrust forward by yesterday's Democratic election sweep, two stand out above all others:

Will the forces of liberlism which massed at the ballot box push the pendulum of administration policy still further to the left, producing a new cycle of spending, new advances in social legislations, and new projects for the control of business?

Which way will the Republican party go now, and when and how will the struggle for mastery of that party in 1936 begin?

Neither of these questions is easy to answer. On both sides, and especially among the Republicans, there is apparent a certain bewilderment over the magnitude of the Democratic victory. Until that phase passes, to predict specific policies would be merely to guess. The elements of uncertainty are many.

Conservatives Ousted

In one sense, it is possible to regard in election results as a pronounced shove of the pendulum to the left. By and large, those who were defeated were right-wingers. They condemned the spending program, complained of government restrictions on business, asked for an end to uncertainty at Washington. By and large those who won defended the spending, agreed with the restrictions, and excused the uncertainty.

The natural thing would be to suppose that the decisive results of the election would forecast

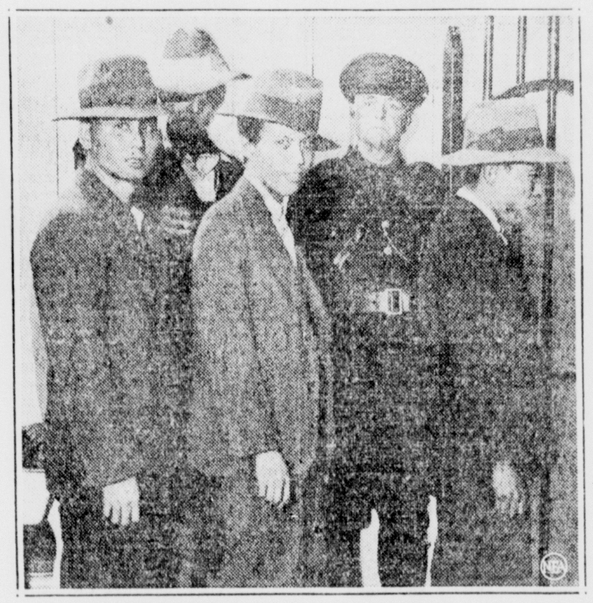
Saved from Cellar Dungeon



Weak from hunger and two weeks' confinement in the opium-laden darkness of the cellar dungeon in which the gang that smuggled them into the United States had concealed them, these Chinese youths are shown philosophically accepting their new status as prisoners of federal agents, who rescued them in a raid on a deserted mansion at Keyport, N. J. Three of the 18 men seized are pictured at Keyport before being sent to Ellis Island.

De Priest Loses To Another Negro

Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP)—A scholarly negro lawyer from the old south has unseated Rep. Oscar De Priest to be the first of his race on the Democratic side of congress.

By a margin of 3,000 votes Arthur W. Mitchell, 37, one time office boy to Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute, was declared elected by the first Illinois district that since 1928 has been represented by the only negro congressman, the elderly De Priest. The board of election commissioners gave the vote ,still unofficially totaled, as: Mitchell 27,970, De Priest 24,840.

NEW DEAL GETS WIDE APPROVAL

(By The Associated Press)

The new deal, just two years old but grown into a giant under President Roosevelt's care, was shown today to have consumated the most devastating off-year political sweep in more than a century.

Late returns from Tuesday's balloting found the Democratic forces with a beter than 3 to 1 majority in the house, and better than 2 to 1 in the senate.

In the senate, should Senators Cutting, independent Republican, and Hatch, Roosevelt Democrat, hold their leads in the long and short terms contests in New Mexico, the line-up will be:

Democrats 69; Republicans 24; Progressives and Farmer Laborites one apiece.

In the house, with only a handful of contests undecided and with the new deal forces mathematically sure of swelling their huge majority, the line-up, almost completed, early today stood:

Democrats 311; Republicans 101; Progressives 7, and Farmer Laborites 3.

Crushing Sweep

In the 33 gubernatprial contests, with Republican Harry W. Nice apparently having blasted the fifth term hopes of Democratic Governor Albert C. Ritchie in Maryland, the Democratic forces apparently were successful in 24 instances. Republicans appeared to have won seven seats, with the Progressives and Farmer Laborites holding one apiece. Two Revolters In Spain Are Executed

Madrid, Nov. 7 (AP)—A large glass of cognac at the last to brace them, two men who shed soldiers' blood in Spain's red revolt went bravely to their death today.

While syndicalist leaders through the nation strove futilely to rally workers in general strikes they hoped would stop the executions, rifles cracked at Gijon to end the lives of Joe Naredo and Joe Guerra Pardo, Asturian rebel leaders.

The men were two of 23 found guilty in courts-martial of causing the death of soldiers and civil guards. There were no mitigating circumstances in their cases, the courts found, preventing their receiving commuted sentences such as were given the other 21.

JOHN K. STACK AND FRY HOLD WIDE MARGINS

CONTEST OF SECRETARY OF STATE IS CLOSE

Detroit, Nov. 7. (AP)—Frank D Fitzgerald, Republican secretary of state, maintained his lead of slightly more than 75,000 in a tabulation late tonight of the votes in his gubernatorial race with Arthur J. Lacy, Democrat.

Only 151 precincts were missing. The tabulation of the ballots cast in 3,300 of Michigan's 3,451 precincts in Tuesday election gave Fitzgerald, 627,626; Lacy, 551,102.

Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican incumbent, had a lead of some 46,000 over Frank A. Picard, Democratic nominee for the United States senate, in 3,285 precincts. The vote was: Vandenberg, 592,116; Picard, 546,844.

The standing in other state ticket races:

Lieutenant Governor, 3,071 precincts, Thomas Reed, Republican, 522,919; Allen E. Stebbins, Democratic incumbent, 501,698.

Secretary of State, 3,317 precincts, Orville E. Atwood, Republican, 553,947; Guy M. Wilson, Democrat, 548,804.

State Treasurer, 3,279 precincts, Theodore I. Fry, Democratic incumbent, 555,690; Gilbert H. Isbister, Republican, 542,133.

Auditor General, 3,284 precincts, John K. Stack, Jr., Democratic incumbent, 560,077; Harry D. Brackett, Republican, 538,057.

Attorney General, 3,059 precincts, Harry S. Toy, Republican, 537,674; Patrick H. O'Brien, Democratic incumbent, 491,407.

DEMOS WIN IN PENNSYLVANIA

Smashing New Deal Victory Scored in Old GOP Stronghold

BY LEO W. SHERIDAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—A smashing New Deal victory straight down the ticket completed the rout tonight of Republicans from control of their Keystone state for the first time in more than a half century.

On top of a stunning defeat of the stalwart Senator David A. Reed, Republicans were toppled from the governorship, other state offices, several congressional seats, and control of the state house of representatives.

Reed, unrelenting critic of the New Deal, conceded the victory of Joseph F. Guffey, who helped swing the 1932 Democratic convention to Roosevelt.

The jovial Pittsburgh oil man, who calls the president "God's inspired servant," had rolled up a lead of 119,694 over Reed in almost complete unofficial returns.

Guffey will be the first Democrat Pennsylvania has sent to the senate in 60 years.

Earle Is Governor

At the same time, Democrats will take over the state government for the first time in 40 years, as George H. Earle, who resigned as minster to Austria to become the Democratic candidate, will succeed Gifford Pinchot, the Independent Republican, as governor. Earle defeated William A. Schnader, Pinchot's attorney general, by about 57,000, incomplete figure show.

The Democrats made big inroads in Pennsylvania's Republican delegation in congress, wrested majority control of the state house of

DEATH CLAIMS PAUL JAEGER

Pioneer Escanaba Residents Passes Away At Hospital

Paul Jaeger, 69, one of this community's pioneer citizens, passed away at 12 o'clock last night at St. Francis hospital after an illness of about a year. Death was caused by heart trouble and complications. Mr. Jaeger's health had been failing for the past year and the past two weeks he was confined to the local hospital. He made his home with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beltzer, 304 North Eleventh street.

For many years before the prohibition era Mr. Jaeger operated a saloon at 1022 Ludington street and with the advent of prohibition he continued to operate the establishment as a dispensary of soft beverages. About eight years ago Mr. Jaeger sold his property to the J. C. Penney company and retired. Mr. Jaeger was an alderman in the city under the old plan of government numerous times.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home for burial preparation, but no funeral arrangements have been made.

He is survived by a son, Henry, of Milwaukee; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Beltzer, Escanaba; and a brother, Max, of Iron River, and nine grandchildren.

Marquette County Splits For Demo, GOP Candidates

Marquette, Nov. 7. (Special)—The results of the elections in Marquette county show the following winners: for legislature, Sundstrom, Democrat; for prosecutor, Voelker, Democrat; for sheriff, Franson, Republican; for county clerk, Jenk,- Republican; for treasurer, Hayden, Republican; for register of deeds, Sandell, Republican.

HOOK DEFEATS W. FRANK JAMES

Republican Congressman Loses In Twelfth District Race

Iron Mountain, Nov. 7—On the basis of sufficient, although incomplete returns today W. Frank James, congressman of the twelfth district of Michigan, yesterday was defeated for election by Frank E. Hook, of Ironwood, his Democratic opponent.

It was indicated that Hook's majority was in the neighborhood of 3,500, or approximately the same figure as forecast recently by Emil Hurja, former Crystal Falls resident who is now vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Hook received a majority of 2,173 in his home county of Gogebic and he fared almost as well in Dickinson county, which he carried by 1,956. He lost Marquette county by 845 votes and carried Iron by eight votes. A majority of 224 for him was reported in James' home county, Houghton, and a slight majority in Ontonagon, while small margins for James weer reported in Keweenaw and Baraga. The eight counties make up the district.

James, a member of congress for 20 years, is a resident of the copper country. He had conducted a steady campaign, but the "new deal" swell was under way and Hook, who worked hard and long in presenting his appeal for support, was carried in.

James was recognized as one of the hardest congressmen in the country to defeat. Over a period of years he had increased his strength and was noever quite seriously threatened by an opponent. His loss now, therefore, was taken as the district's emphatic endorsement of President Roosevelt's recovery efforts.

seats in the first Wayne district.

Voters rejected two members of the senate whom Governor Comstock had characterized as "rebel Democrats" in the last session, Senators Francis A. Kulp, of Battle Creek, and J. Neal Lamoreaux, of Comstock Park, were defeated. Leon C. Case, of Watervliet, Democratic floor leader in the last session, was re-elected and is expected to be the minority leader in the coming session. Arthur E. Wood, Republican, of Detroit, a former senator, made a comeback in the Fourth district. Senator Gordon F. Van Eenenaam, Republican, of Muskegon, looked as the outstanding candidate for president pro tempore and majority floor leader.

more spendin, more restrictions, and no move to end uncertainty and build up "confidence." Yet there are other factors in the situation which make any such conclusion speculative, and possibly incorrect.

The fact is that in recent weeks the trend of outward administration effort has been toward the right, not toward the left.

Should the president now turn definitely toward an expanded program unpalatable to business, what becomes of the recent protestations, in almost every important administration utterance, that the administration wants business to be free, to prosper, and to earn a profit?

What becomes of the picture of him presented to the bankers convention by his friends, who portrayed him as tired of experimentation, anxious to subordinate the brain trust, ready to taper off his program of expenditures provided busines would give him the needed help in warding off the advances of radicalism?

It is in the role of a defender of property rights and sound principles against a possible outbreak of "wild men' 'in the new congress that the president recently has been presented by his proponents. Never has the endeavor so to represent him been so palin and above-board as during the month just preceding the election.

Unless all of this is put down to hypocracy and sham, it would be most hazardous to jump to the conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt now is ready to join up with the "wild men,"—whose power is in itself more or less questionable—and proceed to the left.

At least the likelihood of precipitate action is discounted greatly by the president's well-established inclination to explore the ground carefully before framing a specific legislative policy.

Vandenberg to Fore

Of the Republican situation, only a very brave prognosticator would undertake to speak with assurance.

Those Republicans who object to the new deal on fundamental grounds show no sign of having permitted the eelction returns to change their opinions. They are, if anything, more bitterly against Mr. Roosevelt than before, more determined to destroy him politically, more convinced that the day will come when the majority will be on their side.

In the ordinary course, it would seem that the only answer to this enigma, if the Republican party is to present anything like a united front in 1936, is compromise. And that prospect already is focusing attention in the direction of Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, almost the only Republican of national reputation who has recaptured a Republican state in this year of 1934 from its 1932 Democratic conquerors.

Disdainfully nicknamed a "young Turk" soon after his senate debut in 1928, Vandenberg overnight has been propelled to a foremost party status. He won while those "old guardsmen" who belittled him were being retired.

He won, in what he called "the most important election since the Civil war," with tactics not unlike those of Roosevelt himself in their flexibility. He endorsed much liberal legislation favored by the administration; while fellow partisans were planning to combat it.

Some of Vandenberg's colleagues were talking about him, even before the election, as possible presidential timber for 1936. It is far too early to predict whether any such idea will bear fruit; but it certainly can be said with reasonable certainty that when the Republican recover from their post-election shell-shock and begin to think about new leadership and a new deal for Republicanism, the advice of Vandenberg of Michigan will be sought in every reorganization council meeting.

ROBLES KIDNAP SUSPECT HELD

Former Night Club Proprietor Accused By Agents

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 7. (AP)—The government's six months search for the men who kidnaped six-year-old June Robles and left her chained in a desert hole resulted in the arrest today of a school-day chum of her father on extortion charge.

Oscar H. Robson, former night club proprietor, was arraigned here and held under $50,000 bond on the extortion charge. Department of justice agents announced in Los Angeles June might be brought to the Phoenix jail to see if she could identify Robson's voice.

Suspicion had turned toward Robson once before while the search for the little girl was being carried on about Tucson last spring.

After June had been found safe but emaciated in the coffin like iron box in the desert, she confronted Robson but was unable to identify him.

L. C. Taylor, department o justice operative, signed the complaint against Robson charging him with attempting to extort $15,000 in the case. It accused the man of mailing a letter to Bernabe Robles, grandfather of the girl, threatening to injure members of the family "if you do not regard what we say."

The letter allegedly gave instructions for the father, Fernando Robles, to follow in effecting the release of the child.

June was found in her desert prison last May 4, 19 days after she had been snatched from a Tucson street while on her way home from school.

Federal agents in Los Angeles declined to disclose details of the arrest or the circumstances leading up to it.

representatives and swept all major state offices. Only the state senate clung to Republican control.

Collapse of the Republican organization in Philadelphia, facing its first test since the death of the old line leader, William S. Vare, was an outstanding factor in yesterday's Democratic sweep.

Pennsylvania's largest city, where Matthew Stanley Quay, Boies Penrose and Vare built one of the nation's most powerful political machines, gave Reed but a slender 1,000 plurality.

Only two years ago, Philadelphia rolled up a 70,000 lead for the defeated Herbert Hoover in the face of a Democratic landslide.

Meanwhile, the second largest city, Pittsburgh, another once powerful Republican fort, which began going Democratic in 1932, turned in for Guffey as did some of the soft coal and farming centers.

Dry Defeated In Prohibition Votes

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—The first tests of prohibition sentiment in Michigan since repeal resulted in defeats for the "dry."

Four counties that voted on local option Barry, Ottawa, Osceola and Mecosta gave adverse majorities.

The Michigan Anti-Saloon league announced last week, however, that it was taking no part in those campaigns, considering the time not right, and that it was saving its ammunition for a state-wide campaign in the spring.

Barry and Ottawa counties voted local option down by nearly two to one. In Osceola, the vote was close, 2,763 to 2,414, while in Mecosta it was 2,869 to 1,923.

NEW DEAL GETS WIDE APPROVAL

would give Democrats 38 of the 48 executive chairs.

Not since the "off-year" elections 132 years ago, when the Federalists, now Republicans, were swept from power has such a decisive count been rolled up in the between-presidential contests.

The surge of Democrats to wider power swept Democrats into nine senate seats that had been held by Republicans in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

One of the biggest Republican jolts was in Pennsylvania, the home of the Mellons. There David A. Reed, staunch defender of conservative interests in the senate, fell before Joseph F. Guffey, a Democrat who regarded President Roosevelt as "divinely inspired."

The full sweep of the balloting lifted out of the senate such Republican landmarks as Reed of Pennsylvania and Fess of Ohio, the one regarded as the symbol of conservatism, the other a long time Republican leader and chairman of that party's national committee in the lush days of Herbert Hoover.

The victory which left Democrats jubilant found Republicans calling the new deal a disease which must run its course. Markets, after a marked absence of enthusiasm on the part of stocks, responded in sprightly fashion before the closing gong. Brisk buying lifted stocks. Wheat topped the dollar a bushel level. Cash corn rose to the highest premium it had claimed in a number of years.

Outstanding among the changes wrought by the election which brought Republicans to the lowest ebb in the history of the party were:

The defeat of Frederic C. Walcott, close friend of former President Hoover, in his race for re-election to the senate from Connecticut.

Elimination from the senate of vocal and virile Robinson of Indiana, a critic of the new deal.

The election of James M. Curley, thrice mayor of Boston, as Democratic governor of Massachusetts.

Missouri turned out Republican Senator Patterson and chose Harry S. Truman.

Democratic Governor A. Harry Moore moved from the New Jersey statehouse to the senate to replace the wealthy Hamilton F. Kean, G. O. P. old guarder.

For the first time in a generation, the Democrats captured the governorship of Pennsylvania to go with the election of their first senator since the Civil war.

Peter G. Gerry, a wealthy Democratic publisher, was elected to succeed Felix Hebert, a Republican, in the senate from Rhode Island.

The brand new Progressive party of the LaFollettes put brothers Philip and Robert in the governorship and senate respectively in Wisconsin.

As the debris began to clear after the savage Democratic onslaught, it became certain that 25 Democrats had been elected in the 35 senate contests that were decided by this year's elections, giving them possession of a top-heavy, more than two-thirds majority with 67 seats there.

Nine of these 25 elections ousted Republicans to give their desks to Democrats. These upsets weer in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

In addition, there was fast stepping for the seat of Republican Independent Cutting in New Mexico, as well as for the short term election there.

Republicans held their seats in Delaware, Michigan, Vermont, Maine and California. In the latter state, however, Four Ticket Hiram Johnson held the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination.

A twisting in and out of Republican and Democratic territory, with each party making inroads on the house delegations of the other, left the Democrats holding their ground early last night.

The Progressive drive in Wisconsin gave to the party of the LaFollettes three house seats along with the senatorial and gubernatorial chairs.

One of the Republicans who was flattened by the electoral wind was Fred Britten of Illinois, the dean of his party in the house. He was one of the handful of either party who was a member of the house on the fateful April day in 1917 when it passed on the resolution which sent the United States into the world war. Britten voted nay.

AMENDMENTS BURIED UNDER

Only One, Non Partisan Judge Elections, Is Given Approval

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—One of the six proposed amendments to the state constitution submitted to the voters in Tuesday's election appeared likely to be approved and another was within striking distance as the tabulation of votes continued tonight.

The proposal to make the election of judges non-partisan had 285,462 yes and 253,998 no votes when 1,831 of the state's 3,451 precincts had been counted.

The so-called county home rule amendment showed a vote of 233,016 yes and 268,908 no in 1,813 precincts.

The four others were snowed under both in Wayne county and outstate. The gasoline tax reduction and weight tax limitation amendments were left behind by a vote of two and one-half to one. In 1,464 precincts the gasoline proposal had 138,750 yes and 312,606 no votes. The weight tax measure was given 138,108 yes and 293,089 no in 1,464 districts.

An amendment to permit the enactment of a graduated state income tax was beaten almost four to one. In 1,463 precincts the vote was 95,912 yet and 324,967 no.

A proposal to enlarge the jurisdiction of justice courts received a vote of 72,576 yes and 313,635 no in 1,453 precincts.

William J. Collins of Iron River, junior grand master of Michigan, will be here to conduct the organization meeting and election of officers will be included.

Blame for Morro Castle Tragedy Is Held to Officers

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Blame for the heavy loss of life in the Morro Castle disaster was placed on the ship's officers and crew today in the government's report on the tragedy, but no attempt was made to fix the origin of the flames that caused 134 deaths.

"After a careful examination of the wreck and evaluation of the testimony," said the report submitted by Dickerson N. Hoover, assistant director of the steamboat inspection service, "it is not possible to state what the exact cause was."

Blame for the catastrophe was placed by the government also on the construction of the vessel itself.

McAdoo Gives His Permission for His Daughter To Marry

Los Angeles, Nov. 7 (AP)—The parental bar to the marriage of Ellen Wilson McAdoo, 19-year-old granddaughter of Woodrow Wilson, was lifted today, and she was informed by her father, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, it was up to her to set the date for her wedding to Raphael Lopez de Onate, movie actor twice her age.

On file in Riverside, Calif., was a notice of intention to wed, signed Oct. 22 by Miss McAdoo and De Onate, and which for a time threatened to become the focus of a stormy dispute.

A formal statement issued by Senator McAdoo of California through his law partner, William Neblitt, smoothed out the road to the altar. It read:

"Neither I nor Mrs. McAdoo, who gives me authority to speak for her, will interpose any objections to the marriage of our daughter, Ellen, to Mr. De Onate. She is 19 years of age and capable of choosing her own husband. The time of the marriage is for Ellen to decide."

Sales of J. C. Penney Co. in October amounted to $$21,241,775 compared with $18,642,969 in the same month last year. This brought the sales for the first 10 months to $161,351,537 compared with $133,730,352 in the same period a year ago.

DEMOS SWEEP INTO DICKINSON

Republicans Lose in The County First Time In History

Iron Mountain, Nov. 7—While the state of Michigan yesterday was returning to the Republican fold, Dickinson county voters smashed all precedent by giving a majority to the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

It was the first time in the history of the county that it ever elected a county officer on the Democratic ticket.

The outcome caused surprise on every hand. It had been anticipated, of course, that results would be close and that one or two county Republican office holders were facing defeat. But no one expected that the court house would lose practically all of its present occupants.

Only three Republicans survived the ordeal. One, William C. Burgess, candidate for county drain commissioner, was unopposed. In another instance, two coroners were to be elected and the Democrats offered only one candidate. He was Frank Tondin and he won. On the Republican side Coroner David A. Asp, of Norway, defeated Coroner J. B. Erickson, of Iron Mountain. Tondin's plurality over Asp was 1,727 and Asp's plurality over Erickson was 256. In the third case, Frank Larson was elected mino inspector over Nunzio Giannunzio, incumbent and slip candidate, who was defeated for the Republican nomination in the primary.

Go Down the Line

The voters of the county went right down the line for Arthur Lacy for governor, Allen Stebbins for lieutenant governor, Guy M. Wilson for secretary of state, Patrick H. O'Brien for attorney general, Theodore Fry for state treasurer, John K. Stack, Jr., for auditor general, Frank A. Picard for United States senator, Frank Hook for congressman, John C. Wickstrom, of Norway, for state senator, and Philip Rahoi, of Iron Mountain, for state representative.

Likewise they went for all of the Democratic candidates, electing Edward Dundon as prosecuting attorney, Paul Gingrass as sheriff, Nick Dulan as clerk, Amello Valenti as treasurer, Albert Wilke as register of deeds, and Tondin as coroner.

F. A. Silcox, cheif of the United States forest service, estimates 100 million man-days a year could be used in rehabilitation of the nation's private forest lands.

HOOK DEFEATS W. FRANK JAMES

Republican Congressman Loses In Twelfth District Race

Iron Mountain, Nov. 7—On the basis of sufficient, although incomplete returns today W. Frank James, congressman of the twelfth district of Michigan, yesterday was defeated for election by Frank E. Hook, of Ironwood, his Democratic opponent.

It was indicated that Hook's majority was in the neighborhood of 3,500, or approximately the same figure as forecast recently by Emil Hurja, former Crystal Falls resident who is now vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Hook received a majority of 2,173 in his home county of Gogebic and he fared almost as well in Dickinson county, which he carried by 1,956. He lost Marquette county by 845 votes and carried Iron by eight votes. A majority of 224 for him was reported in James' home county, Houghton, and a slight majority in Ontonagon, while small margins for James weer reported in Keweenaw and Baraga. The eight counties make up the district.

James, a member of congress for 20 years, is a resident of the copper country. He had conducted a steady campaign, but the "new deal" swell was under way and Hook, who worked hard and long in presenting his appeal for support, was carried in.

James was recognized as one of the hardest congressmen in the country to defeat. Over a period of years he had increased his strength and was noever quite seriously threatened by an opponent. His loss now, therefore, was taken as the district's emphatic endorsement of President Roosevelt's recovery efforts.

seats in the first Wayne district.

Voters rejected two members of the senate whom Governor Comstock had characterized as "rebel Democrats" in the last session, Senators Francis A. Kulp, of Battle Creek, and J. Neal Lamoreaux, of Comstock Park, were defeated. Leon C. Case, of Watervliet, Democratic floor leader in the last session, was re-elected and is expected to be the minority leader in the coming session. Arthur E. Wood, Republican, of Detroit, a former senator, made a comeback in the Fourth district. Senator Gordon F. Van Eenenaam, Republican, of Muskegon, looked as the outstanding candidate for president pro tempore and majority floor leader.

WHAT ELECTION RESULTS MIGHT BE CONSIDERED

more spendin, more restrictions, and no move to end uncertainty and build up "confidence." Yet there are other factors in the situation which make any such conclusion speculative, and possibly incorrect.

The fact is that in recent weeks the trend of outward administration effort has been toward the right, not toward the left.

Should the president now turn definitely toward an expanded program unpalatable to business, what becomes of the recent protestations, in almost every important administration utterance, that the administration wants business to be free, to prosper, and to earn a profit?

What becomes of the picture of him presented to the bankers convention by his friends, who portrayed him as tired of experimentation, anxious to subordinate the brain trust, ready to taper off his program of expenditures provided busines would give him the needed help in warding off the advances of radicalism?

It is in the role of a defender of property rights and sound principles against a possible outbreak of "wild men" in the new congress that the president recently has been presented by his proponents. Never has the endeavor so to represent him been so palin and above-board as during the month just preceding the election.

Unless all of this is put down to hypocracy and sham, it would be most hazardous to jump to the conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt now is ready to join up with the "wild men,"—whose power is in itself more or less questionable—and proceed to the left.

At least the likelihood of precipitate action is discounted greatly by the president's well-established inclination to explore the ground carefully before framing a specific legislative policy.

Vandenberg to Fore

Of the Republican situation, only a very brave prognosticator would undertake to speak with assurance.

Those Republicans who object to the new deal on fundamental grounds show no sign of having permitted the eelction returns to change their opinions. They are, if anything, more bitterly against Mr. Roosevelt than before, more determined to destroy him politically, more convinced that the day will come when the majority will be on their side.

In the ordinary course, it would seem that the only answer to this enigma, if the Republican party is to present anything like a united front in 1936, is compromise. And that prospect already is focusing attention in the direction of Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, almost the only Republican of national reputation who has recaptured a Republican state in this year of 1934 from its 1932 Democratic conquerors.

Disdainfully nicknamed a "young Turk" soon after his senate debut in 1928, Vandenberg overnight has been propelled to a foremost party status. He won while those "old guardsmen" who belittled him were being retired.

He won, in what he called "the most important election since the Civil war," with tactics not unlike those of Roosevelt himself in their flexibility. He endorsed much liberal legislation favored by the administration; while fellow partisans were planning to combat it.

Some of Vandenberg's colleagues were talking about him, even before the election, as possible presidential timber for 1936. It is far too early to predict whether any such idea will bear fruit; but it certainly can be said with reasonable certainty that when the Republican recover from their post-election shellshock and begin to think about new leadership and a new deal for Republicanism, the advice of Vandenberg of Michigan will be sought in every reorganization council meeting.

ROBLES KIDNAP SUSPECT HELD

Former Night Club Proprietor Accused By Agents

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 7. (AP)—The government's six months search for the men who kidnaped six-year-old June Robles and left her chained in a desert hole resulted in the arrest today of a school-day chum of her father on extortion charge.

Oscar H. Robson, former night club proprietor, was arraigned here and held under $50,000 bond on the extortion charge. Department of justice agents announced in Los Angeles June might be brought to the Phoenix jail to see if she could identify Robson's voice.

Suspicion had turned toward Robson once before while the search for the little girl was being carried on about Tucson last spring.

After June had been found safe but emaciated in the coffin like iron box in the desert, she confronted Robson but was unable to identify him.

L. C. Taylor, department of justice operative, signed the complaint against Robson charging him with attempting to extort $15,000 in the case. It accused the man of mailing a letter to Bernabe Robles, grandfather of the girl, threatening to injure members of the family "if you do not regard what we say."

The letter allegedly gave instructions for the father, Fernando Robles, to follow in effecting the release of the child.

June was found in her desert prison last May 4, 19 days after she had been snatched from a Tucson street while on her way home from school.

Federal agents in Los Angeles declined to disclose details of the arrest or the circumstances leading up to it.

DEMOS WIN IN PENNSYLVANIA

representatives and swept all major state offices. Only the state senate clung to Republican control.

Collapse of the Republican organization in Philadelphia, facing its first test since the death of the old line leader, William S. Vare, was an outstanding factor in yesterday's Democratic sweep.

Pennsylvania's largest city, where Matthew Stanley Quay, Boies Penrose and Vare built one of the nation's most powerful political machines, gave Reed but a slender 4,000 plurality.

Only two years ago, Philadelphia rolled up a 70,000 lead for the defeated Herbert Hoover in the face of a Democratic landslide.

Meanwhile, the second largest city, Pittsburgh, another once powerful Republican fort, which began going Democratic in 1932, turned in for Guffey as did some of the soft coal and farming centers.

Dry Defeated In Prohibition Votes

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—The first tests of prohibition sentiment in Michigan since repeal resulted in defeats for the "dry."

Four counties that voted on local option—Barry, Ottawa, Osceola and Mecosta—gave adverse majorities.

The Michigan Anti-Saloon league announced last week, however, that it was taking no part in those campaigns, considering the time not right, and that it was saving its ammunition for a state-wide campaign in the spring.

Barry and Ottawa counties voted local option down by nearly two to one. In Osceola, the vote was close, 2,763 to 2,414, while in Mecosta it was 2,869 to 1,923.

NEW DEAL GETS WIDE APPROVAL

would give Democrats 38 of the 48 executive chairs.

Not since the "off-year" elections 132 years ago, when the Federalists, now Republicans, were swept from power has such a decisive count been rolled up in the between-presidential contests.

The surge of Democrats to wider power swept Democrats into nine senate seats that had been held by Republicans in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

One of the biggest Republican jolts was in Pennsylvania, the home of the Mellons. There David A. Reed, staunch defender of conservative interests in the senate, fell before Joseph F. Guffey, a Democrat who regarded President Rosevelt as "divinely inspired."

The full sweep of the balloting lifted out of the senate such Republican landmarks as Reed of Pennsylvania and Fess of Ohio, the one regarded as the symbol of conservatism, the other a long time Republican leader and chairman of that party's national committee in the lush days of Herbert Hoover.

The victory which left Democrats jubilant found Republicans calling the new deal a disease which must run its course. Markets, after a marked absence of enthusiasm on the part of stocks, responded in sprightly fashion before the closing gong. Brisk buying lifted stocks. Wheat topped the dollar a bushel level. Cash corn rose to the highest premium it had claimed in a number of years.

Outstanding among the changes wrought by the election which brought Republicans to the lowest ebb in the history of the party were:

The defeat of Frederic C. Walcott, close friend of former President Hoover, in his race for re-election to the senate from Connecticut.

Elimination from the senate of vocal and virile Robinson of Indiana, a critic of the new deal.

The election of James M. Curley, thrice mayor of Boston, as Democratic governor of Massachusetts.

Missouri turned out Republican Senator Patterson and chose Harry S. Truman.

Democratic Governor A. Harry Moore moved from the New Jersey statehouse to the senate to replace the wealthy Hamilton F. Kean, G. O. P. old guarder.

For the first time in a generation, the Democrats captured the governorship of Pennsylvania to go with the election of their first senator since the Civil war.

Peter G. Gerry, a wealthy Democratic publisher, was elected to succeed Felix Hebert, a Republican, in the senate from Rhode Island.

The brand new Progressive party of the LaFollettes put brothers Philip and Robert in the governorship and senate respectively in Wisconsin.

As the debris began to clear after the savage Democratic onslaught, it became certain that 25 Democrats had been elected in the 35 senate contests that were decided by this year's elections, giving them possession of a top-heavy, more than two-thirds majority with 67 seats there.

Nine of these 25 elections ousted Republicans to give their desks to Democrats. These upsets weer in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

In addition, there was fast stepping for the seat of Republican Independent Cutting in New Mexico, as well as for the short term election there.

Republicans held their seats in Delaware, Michigan, Vermont, Maine and California. In the latter state, however, Four Ticket Hiram Johnson held the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination.

A twisting in and out of Republican and Democratic territory, with each party making inroads on the house delegations of the other, left the Democrats holding their ground early last night.

The Progressive drive in Wisconsin gave to the party of the LaFollettes three house seats along with the senatorial and gubernatorial chairs.

One of the Republicans who was Flattened by the electoral wind was Fred Britten of Illinois, the dean of his party in the house. He was one of the handful of either party who was a member of the house on the fateful April day in 1917 when it passed on the resolution which sent the United States into the world war. Britten voted nay.

AMENDMENTS BURIED UNDER

Only One, Non Partisan Judge Elections, Is Given Approval

Detroit, Nov. 7 (AP)—One of the six proposed amendments to the state constitution submitted to the voters in Tuesday's election appeared likely to be approved and another was within striking distance as the tabulation of votes continued tonight.

The proposal to make the election of judges non-partisan had 285,462 yes and 253,998 no votes when 1,831 of the state's 3,451 precincts had been counted.

The so-called county home rule amendment showed a vote of 233,016 yes and 268,908 no in 1,813 precincts.

The four others were snowed under both in Wayne county and outstate. The gasoline tax reduction and weight tax limitation amendments were left behind by a vote of two and one-half to one. In 1,464 precincts the gasoline proposal had 138,750 yes and 312,606 no votes. The weight tax measure was given 138,108 yes and 293,089 no in 1,464 districts.

An amendment to permit the enactment of a graduated state income tax was beaten almost four to one. In 1,463 precincts the vote was 95,912 yet and 324,967 no.

A proposal to enlarge the jurisdiction of justice courts received a vote of 72,576 yes and 313,635 no in 1,453 precincts.

Blame for Morro Castle Tragedy Is Held to Officers

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Blame for the heavy loss of life in the Morro Castle disaster was placed on the ship's officers and crew today in the government's report on the tragedy, but no attempt was made to fix the origin of the flames that caused 134 deaths.

"After a careful examination of the wreck and evaluation of the testimony," said the report submitted by Dickerson N. Hoover, assistant director of the steamboat inspection service, "it is not possible to state what the exact cause was."

Blame for the catastrophe was placed by the government also on the construction of the vessel itself.

McAdoo Gives His Permission for His Daughter To Marry

Los Angeles, Nov. 7 (AP)—The parental bar to the marriage of Ellen Wilson McAdoo, 19-year-old granddaughter of Woodrow Wilson, was lifted today, and she was informed by her father, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, it was up to her to set the date for her wedding to Raphael Lopez de Onate, movie actor twice her age.

On file in Riverside, Calif., was a notice of intention to wed, signed Oct. 22 by Miss McAdoo and De Onate, and which for a time threatened to become the focus of a stormy dispute.

A formal statement issued by Senator McAdoo of California through his law partner, William Neblitt, smoothed out the road to the altar. It read:

"Neither I nor Mrs. McAdoo, who gives me authority to speak for her, will interpose any objections to the marriage of our daughter, Ellen, to Mr. De Onate. She is 19 years of age and capable of choosing her own husband. The time of the marriage is for Ellen to decide."

Sales of J. C. Penney Co. in October amounted to $821,241,775 compared with $18,642,969 in the same month last year. This brought the sales for the first 10 months to $161,351,537 compared with $133,730,352 in the same period a year ago.

DEMOS SWEEP INTO DICKINSON

Republicans Lose in The County First Time In History

Iron Mountain, Nov. 7—While the state of Michigan yesterday was returning to the Republican fold, Dickinson county voters smashed all precedent by giving a majority to the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

It was the first time in the history of the county that it ever elected a county officer on the Democratic ticket.

The outcome caused surprise on every hand. It had been anticipated, of course, that results would be close and that one or two county Republican office holders were facing defeat. But no one expected that the court house would lose practically all of its present occupants.

Only three Republicans survived the ordeal. One, William C. Burgess, candidate for county drain commissioner, was unopposed. In another instance, two coroners were to be elected and the Democrats offered only one candidate. He was Frank Tondin and he won. On the Republican side Coroner David A. Asp, of Norway, defeated Coroner J. B. Erickson, of Iron Mountain. Tondin's plurality over Asp was 1,727 and Asp's plurality over Erickson was 256. In the third case, Frank Larson was elected mine inspector over Nunzio Giannunzio, incumbent and slip candidate, who was defeated for the Republican nomination in the primary.

Go Down the Line

The voters of the county went right down the line for Arthur Lacy for governor, Allen Stebbins for lieutenant governor, Guy M. Wilson for secretary of state, Patrick H. O'Brien for attorney general, Theodore Fry for state treasurer, John K. Stack, Jr., for auditor general, Frank A. Picard for United States senator, Frank Hook for congressman, John C. Wickstrom, of Norway, for state senator, and Philip Rahoi, of Iron Mountain, for state representative.

Likewise they went for all of the Democratic candidates, electing Edward Dundon as prosecuting attorney, Paul Gingrass as sheriff, Nick Dulan as clerk, Amelio Valenti as treasurer, Albert Wilke as register of deeds, and Tondin as coroner.

F. A. Silcox, cheif of the United States forest service, estimates 100 million man-days a year could be used in rehabilitation of the nation's private forest lands.

Marquette Forest Gets Indian Camp

The U. S. Indian agency at Ashland, Wis., has norified the Chippewa county board of supervisors that the allocation of $71,000 in federal funds is in prospect for the construction of camps and all other expenses in connection with the establishment of an Ojibway Indian emergency conservation camp on the Marquette forest in the eastern part of the peninsula.

The word of approval came from the agency to Louis Dalgard and Sam C. Taylor of Sault Ste. Marie, who constitute a committee on Indian matters for the local board. The project when fully worked out will be the result of co-operation between the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs and the U. S. Forest service.

Tentative plans have been prepared by the latter for camp buildings and work schedules over a five-months period. Supervisor Ball of the Marquette forest and Indian department officials met at Lac du Flambeau, Wis., this week to work out details.

PARADE BOOKED ARMISTICE DAY

Escanaba Veterans Plan For Celebration and Football Game

Attorney Kenneth Doyle of Menominee has been secured by the Escanaba American Legion as the speaker for their Armistice night banquet to be held at the Delta hotel at 6:30 p. m., Nov. 12. A. J. Young of Escanaba will also appear on the program, and C. J. Flanagan will act as toastmaster. Several musical numbers will be included in the entertainment.

The observance of Armistice Day among World War veterans at Escanaba will start at 10:30 a. m., when members of the firing squad, buglers, and color squad will assemble at the city hall to stage the 11 o'clock Armistice ritual.

The annual Gladstone-Escanaba football game will be played Monday afternoon, and war veterans of the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone will participate in the ceremony. A parade will form at the Elks club at 12:30 p. m. Monday and march to the junior high school, led by the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps and the Escanaba high school band. The parade will disband at the school to reform at Gladstone at 1 p. m., where the Escanaba units will be joined by Gladstone war veterans and high school groups. The Gladstone parade will form at the high school and will march to the athletic field.

All ex-service men are invited to take part in the parade and those who have the official Legion caps are asked to wear them. Others are urged to turn out, regardless of whether or not they have a cap or uniform.

As a climax to the Armistice Day holiday observance, the Escanaba Legion post will sponsor an Armistice night ball at the Terrace Gardens. Tickets are ready for distribution, and elaborate plans are being made for the party.

Pioneer Resident Of Trenary Dead; Funeral Is Today

Trenary, Mich.—(Special)—Mrs. Elizabeth Swaim Trenary, whose husband was the original settler of Trenary, died November 5th at the age of eighty-one at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Ptolemy in Dearborn. Elizabeth Swaim was born in Ohio, August 24, 1853. The family later moved to Indiana where she married Levi Trenary in 1875. In 1886 they moved to Alger county and settled in Mathias township. Here six children were born of whom only two survive. The body of Mrs. Trenary was brought to Trenary from Dearborn by Orlo Roberts, a grandson of Eli B. Good an early settler of Trenary. The services will take place at the Trenary home Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Edwin Pearce from Gwinn will officiate.

LECTURER WILL BE HEARD HERE

Hilda Gale Green Talks At Senior High On Nov. 15th

The first assembly program at the senior high schol this season will bring to the students and people of Escanaba a very interesting speaker in the person of Hilda Gale Green, writer, adventurer, and lecturer of Chicago. Miss Green is scheduled to appear at the high school on Thursday, November 15.

In bringing Miss Green to Escanaba, local school officials have secured a speaker of national reputation, a world wide traveler. She will deliver a lecture on the "Byways of Adventure to Westward Alaska" and will feature her talk with slides illustrating the life and adventures of this wild and interesting country. Miss Green, who attended both Northwestern and Illinois universities, gathered the material for her lecture when she joined a mining expedition which chartered a small fishing boat that took them to places where he arrival of a white woman from the United States was a great event. In all her travels, Miss Green has always chosen to make her trips with natives rather than on the regular tourist trips.

That Miss Green can recount actual living conditions on these primitive locations is evidenced by the fact that she spent several months in that country and once was marooned on a desolate island for two winter months and that the only means of existence was living on wild meat. At that time, a party of eight of she was a member was rescued in a thrilling feat effected by the United States coast guard cutter, Tallapoosa.

BROWN WINS BY BIG VOTE

Democratic Congressman Is Reelected By 6,950 Margin

Congressman Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace was re-elected over Attorney John J. O'Hara, Republican of Menominee, by 6,950 votes in the race for congressman from the Eleventh district, according to the tabulation of the returns from all but 16 of the 292 precincts in the district. The vote was: Brown, 36,209; O'Hara, 29,259.

The 16 precincts unreported are mostly sparsely settled communities in lower Michigan, which probably did not poll much more than a thousand votes.

Marquette Forest Gets Indian Camp

The U. S. Indian agency at Ashland, Wis., has norified the Chippewa county board of supervisors that the allocation of $71,000 in federal funds is in prospect for the construction of camps and all other expenses in connection with the establishment of an Ojibway Indian emergency conservation camp on the Marquette forest in the eastern part of the peninsula.

The word of approval came from the agency to Louis Dalgard and Sam C. Taylor of Sault Ste. Marie, who constitute a committee on Indian matters for the local board. The project when fully worked out will be the result of co-operation between the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs and the U. S. Forest service.

Tentative plans have been prepared by the latter for camp buildings and work schedules over a five-months period. Supervisor Ball of the Marquette forest and Indian department officials met at Lac du Flambeau, Wis., this week to work out details.

LECTURER WILL BE HEARD HERE

Hilda Gale Green Talks At Senior High On Nov. 15th

The first assembly program at the senior high schol this season will bring to the students and people of Escanaba a very interesting speaker in the person of Hilda Gale Green, writer, adventurer, and lecturer of Chicago. Miss Green is scheduled to appear at the high school on Thursday, November 15.

In bringing Miss Green to Escanaba, local school officials have secured a speaker of national reputation, a world wide traveler. She will deliver a lecture on the "Byways of Adventure to Westward Alaska" and will feature her talk with slides illustrating the life and adventures of this wild and interesting country. Miss Green, who attended both Northwestern and Illinois universities, gathered the material for her lecture when she joined a mining expedition which chartered a small fishing boat that took them to places where the arrival of a white woman from the United States was a great event. In all her travels, Miss Green has always chosen to make her trips with natives rather than on the regular tourist trips.

That Miss Green can recount actual living conditions on these primitive locations is evidenced by the fact that she spent several months in that country and once was marooned on a desolate island for two winter months and that the only means of existence was living on wild meat. At that time, a party of eight of she was a member was rescued in a thrilling feat effected by the United States coast guard cutter, Tallapoosa.

NEW DEAL ENDORSED

THE state of Michigan, overwhelmingly Republican in its politics until two years ago, was one of but two states in the entire nation to swing definitely back to its earlier political complexion, at the elections of Tuesday. Vermont was the other state to report reinstatement of Republican officials. Progressives and Progressive Republicans elected their tickets in Wisconsin, California and Minnesota. In the remaining states of the nation, where elections were held on Tuesday, the Democratic party and the New Deal, won sweeping and most decisive victories. That victory is even more impressive when it is considered that Progressive and Farm Labor victories in Wisconsin and Minnesota constitute, as far as practical politics is concerned, added strength to the New Deal cause.

After one of the most vigorous campaigns in the history of this county, Delta continued to remain one of the most Democratic counties in Michigan, followers of that party sweeping into county offices its entire list of candidates, and taking the office of county clerk, which had survived the landslide of two years ago, in full stride.

In spite of the final verdict in this state, it was a smashing and a decisive victory for the Democratic party in this county and district.

HOLLYWOOD RESPONDS

INDICATIONS that the motion picture industry regards the public revolt against low grade pictures as a serious reaction are found in the report of Will Hays on productions planned for the coming months.

Mr. Hays lists a total of 278 pictures which producers are planning or have already begun. Of these 105 will be made from outstanding short stories and novels, and 49 will be made from outstanding stage plays. Among the remaining 125 which will be originals written by Hollywood authors, 34 will be musical productions 24 will be detective yarns and mysteries and 22 will be devoted to historical and biographical subjects.

Further encouragement is found in the fact that the works from which the productions will be made present an impressive list of noted authors, including Dante, Dickens, Poe, Shakespeare, Tolstoy and Dumas of the "immortals," and Barrie, Tarkington, Wells, Galsworthy, Walpole, Ferber and Pearl Buck of the moderns.

Although weird things have often resulted when the motion picture industry undertook to transfer the great works of literature to the screen, the unusual amount of good material which the producers have selected for future productions is most hopeful. Never before have as many outstanding works been chosen for movie portrayal. Furthermore, in the productions already started observers note and report an earnest effort on the part of producers and directors to give a faithful translation of their subjects.

All of these are signs that Hollywood has heard and heeded the public demand for better movies.

The public's part will be to support the better movies rather than the kind which have been protested.

AN OLD CONTROVERSY REVIVED

THE bitter controversy between Doctor Frederick Cook and Admiral Peary over the discovery of the North Pole is recalled by the British historian, J. Gordon Hayes, who now declares his belief that Peary did not reach the Pole in 1909. Cook and Peary were in the North at the same time but the former returned first with the announcement that he had reached the Pole.

The first man to interview Cook was Sir Philip Gibbs, one of the world's greatest reporters, then on his first major assignment by a London newspaper. Gibbs managed to be the only reporter on the tug which met the returning polar ship and Cook's detailed description at that time of the territory he had covered caused Gibbs to become suspicious and he so reported to his paper.

In his dispatch he expressed grave doubts whether the American was telling the truth. Eventually Cook's story fell to pieces and he was toppled from the high pedestal upon which a trusting world had been eager to place him. The announcement of Peary who followed Cook out of the North a few months later, that he alone had reached the Pole and that Cook was an imposter, added to Cook's discredit.

Hayes' disbelief in Admiral Peary's claim is based on the explorer's log in which he records having traveled 75 miles a day for two consecutive days in order to reach the exact geographical location of the Pole. Such a feat was impossible in Hayes' opinion, thus forcing him to the belief that Peary did not attain his goal "by 50 miles or more."

Future historians of repute, in their consideration of Peary's feat, are not likely to quibble over the possibility of error as disclosed by Hayes' investigation. Recorded history will continue to show that Admiral Peary, the man who refused to fail, finally fought his way through to the North Pole—the first man to stand on top of the world.

THE DANGEROUS DRUNKEN DRIVER

IT MAY be necessary to take still more drastic action with respect to drunken automobile drivers on the highways. It may be necessary, also, to do something about the small high-speed cars which have become such a dangerous and potential instrument of death in the hands of those who mix their alcohol and gasoline.

Insurance statistics are disclosing a new and startling situation arising since repeal. Casualty companies report that we are now killing every day at least 10 times as many persons as the result of accidents caused by drunken drivers and that in far too many cases these deaths are among the young men and women and children of our cities and towns.

This accident rate is being driven up, says the report, both by drinking and by small high-speed cars, but what proportion of the blame should be borne by liquor, what by speed, is now being worked out by the complicated statistical machinery used by insurance companies to make rates.

Whatever be the result of ensuing investigation, one thing is certain. The worst possible enemy to highway safety is the small fast car in the hands of the drunken driver.

If the curve of mishaps of this character continues to mount, statutory regulations must be revised to meet it in some way or another.

We used to go out and bring home the bacon. Nowadays we expect to have it delivered.

Just another way of reminding you—the Postoffice Department says it will make deliveries on Christmas.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

CHAPTER XXX

Sidney Griff emerged from the row of telephone booths and waited impatiently until Bleeker came from an adjoining booth.

"Have you found out anything?" he asked.

Bleeker nodded, his face grimly purposeful.

"Racine," he said, "the detective, has located the Malone woman—that is, we think it's the Malone woman, although she's not going under that name right at present. She's located at 922 East Elm street and is going under the name of Blanche Stanway. Evidently Racine found out about her earlier in the day and kept his information under cover, because he went to the Palace hotel and waited there for 15 minutes. At the end of that time a woman joined him. From the description, I gather that it's Mrs. Frank B. Cathay. Together, they went to call on Blanche Stanway. They're still there. As soon as the boys got a line on them they telephoned a report in to the paper."

Sidney Griff frowned meditatively.

"We'll go there first," he said. "Detectives who are working for me have located Mary Briggs, the hitch-hiker. Naturally, she's important, but she's not as important as the Malone woman."

"Just who," asked Bleeker, "do you figure this Malone woman is?"

"That," Griff told him, "is something that remains to be determined. So far, I am working in this case on a theory and only on a theory."

"But you think it's going to check out?"

"It is checking out," Griff said. "What's the theory?"

"In every case," Griff told him, "there's some key clew—something that dominates all of the other clews — something that points directly to the motive for the crime and the manner of its execution, as well as identity of its perpetrator. The key clew in this case was the counterfeit crook."

"The counterfeit crook?" Bleeker asked. "Who do you mean?"

"The man who posed as the pickpocket, who had Cathay's wallet, driving licenses and credentials."

"Why do you say he couldn't have been a crook?" Bleeker asked.

"Observe carefully," Griff told him. "I do not say the man is not a crook. I say that he was a counterfeit crook. In other words, he was posing as a pick-pocket and yet he was no pick-pocket, as even casual examination of the evidence would have shown."

"How do you mean?"

"He gave a very fair imitation of Cathay's signature at the police station. He gave a fairly accurate imitation of Cathay's signature when he registered at the hotel."

"He might have been a forger," Bleeker pointed out.

"Those things," Griff said, "take practice. But mark you, here is the most significant thing of all. He cashes a check at the hotel where he is registered under the name of Frank B. Cathay, and that check passed through the bank at Riverside. Moreover, he went to the hotel to keep an appointment with Harry Fanchor, an inventor. That appointment had been made in advance, on stationery which either came from Cathay's office in Riverview or else was printed with consummate care so as to duplicate such stationery. Moreover, that letter seems to have been signed by Cathay.

"Therefore, this pocket-picking was no casual lifting of a purse. It was a part of a carefully planned scheme, a scheme which would have worked to perfection if the man hadn't taken a couple of drinks. He was stopped for a minor traffic violation. The officer smelled liquor on his breath and found that his description checked with that of a man who had taken such pains to assume the identity of Frank B. Cathay now took equal pains to deny that identity. Only when he was surprised into betraying it by a check-up on the name under which he had rented the automobile, did he admit the name of Cathay. Yet, as was shown by subsequent developments, he had only to proclaim himself as Cathay to bring about his immediate release.

"However, we're wasting valuable time talking over clews while there's work to be done, so let's get to work."

"But look here," Bleeker demanded, "you don't have any doubt that Kenneth Boone and the girl, between them, were the ones who killed Morden, do you?"

"As to that," Griff said, "we are going to make some interesting and I think some rather startling discoveries. Come, let's see if we can't get to 922 East Elm street before the conference breaks up. It may be a conference that is worthy of our careful attention."

Much puzzled, Bleeker followed the criminologist to a taxicab.

"Remember," he said, when the cab was swaying through the streets, making speed toward the destination where the detective and the widow of the Riverview financier had been located, "that I'm running a newspaper. I'm a man of action. I don't go in for a lot of refined theories; I go in for action. The faster the action, the better I like it. I'm inclined to go ahead and do what I want to first and check up on the mistakes afterwards. I find that I can get to a destination quicker by moving around and doing things than I can by sitting down and waiting for things to happen. Morden was a newspaper man. He was a good one. He had a knowledge of crime and of criminals which he had obtained by first-hand observation. He was murdered. I want to prosecute those murderers. You've got the newspaper standing squarely behind you."

Griff nodded thoughtfully. "I understand all that," he said, "and further, I understand that Morden was a good reporter. He knew his criminals—knew them very well, indeed."

"Not quite well enough," Bleeker said grimly.

Griff's retort was significant. "Perhaps too well," he said.

They rode for a minute or two in silence and then Griff said sadly, "It will be one of my greatest regrets that in solving this case there is one thing which we shall probably never discover."

"What is that?" Bleeker inquired.

"That is whether Morden merely blundered upon the discovery which led to his death, or whether he figured it out by a process of reasoning that was at least brilliant."

"He was not a brilliant man," Bleeker said. "He was a daring man and he was resourceful, but he was not brilliant."

Griff closed his eyes. Slowly he shook his head from side to side.

"I am not certain," he said. "At times I feel that he must have been brilliant. It is, perhaps, something we shall never discover."

"What are you referring to?" Bleeker asked. "The location of Esther Ordway?"

"Not that," Griff said.

"Do you think that he knew she was Cathay's daughter?"

"As to that, we cannot say, but I am inclined to think he did not," Griff said. "The evidence all points to the fact that he was traling Cathay, trying to find what Cathay was doing on that Monday night. He had no luck with the hotels or, perhaps, he simply disregarded the hotels and concentrated his search upon the garages. It is a good point, one that I shall remember."

"How," asked Bleeker, "did you know that she was Cathay's daughter?"

NEW DEAL ENDORSED

THE state of Michigan, overwhelmingly Republican in its politics until two years ago, was one of but two states in the entire nation to swing definitely back to its earlier political complexion, at the elections of Tuesday. Vermont was the other state to report reinstatement of Republican officials. Progressives and Progressive Republicans elected their tickets in Wisconsin, California and Minnesota. In the remaining states of the nation, where elections were held on Tuesday, the Democratic party and the New Deal, won sweeping and most decisive victories. That victory is even more impressive when it is considered that Progressive and Farm Labor victories in Wisconsin and Minnesota constitute, as far as practical politics is concerned, added strength to the New Deal cause.

After one of the most vigorous campaigns in the history of this county, Delta continued to remain one of the most Democratic counties in Michigan, followers of that party sweeping into county offices its entire list of candidates, and taking the office of county clerk, which had survived the landslide of two years ago, in full stride.

In spite of the final verdict in this state, it was a smashing and a decisive victory for the Democratic party in this county and district.

HOLLYWOOD RESPONDS

INDICATIONS that the motion picture industry regards the public revolt against low grade pictures as a serious reaction are found in the report of Will Hays on productions planned for the coming months.

Mr. Hays lists a total of 278 pictures which producers are planning or have already begun. Of these 105 will be made from outstanding short stories and novels, and 49 will be made from outstanding stage plays. Among the remaining 125 which will be originals written by Hollywood authors, 34 will be musical productions 24 will be detective yarns and mysteries and 22 will be devoted to historical and biographical subjects.

Further encouragement is found in the fact that the works from which the productions will be made present an impressive list of noted authors, including Dante, Dickens, Poe, Shakespeare, Tolstoy and Dumas of the "immortals," and Barrie, Tarkington, Wells, Galsworthy, Walpole, Ferber and Pearl Buck of the moderns.

Although weird things have often resulted when the motion picture industry undertook to transfer the great works of literature to the screen, the unusual amount of good material which the producers have selected for future productions is most hopeful. Never before have as many outstanding works been chosen for movie portrayal. Furthermore, in the productions already started observers note and report an earnest effort on the part of producers and directors to give a faithful translation of their subjects.

All of these are signs that Hollywood has heard and heeded the public demand for better movies.

The public's part will be to support the better movies rather than the kind which have been protested.

AN OLD CONTROVERSY REVIVED

THE bitter controversy between Doctor Frederick Cook and Admiral Peary over the discovery of the North Pole is recalled by the British historian, J. Gordon Hayes, who now declares his belief that Peary did not reach the Pole in 1909. Cook and Peary were in the North at the same time but the former returned first with the announcement that he had reached the Pole.

The first man to interview Cook was Sir Philip Gibbs, one of the world's greatest reporters, then on his first major assignment by a London newspaper. Gibbs managed to be the only reporter on the tug which met the returning polar ship and Cook's detailed description at that time of the territory he had covered caused Gibbs to become suspicious and he so reported to his paper.

In his dispatch he expressed grave doubts whether the American was telling the truth. Eventually Cook's story fell to pieces and he was toppled from the high pedestal upon which a trusting world had been eager to place him. The announcement of Peary who followed Cook out of the North a few months later, that he alone had reached the Pole and that Cook was an imposter, added to Cook's discredit.

Hayes' disbelief in Admiral Peary's claim is based on the explorer's log in which he records having traveled 75 miles a day for two consecutive days in order to reach the exact geographical location of the Pole. Such a feat was impossible in Hayes' opinion, thus forcing him to the belief that Peary did not attain his goal "by 50 miles or more."

Future historians of repute, in their consideration of Peary's feat, are not likely to quibble over the possibility of error as disclosed by Hayes' investigation. Recorded history will continue to show that Admiral Peary, the man who refused to fail, finally fought his way through to the North Pole—the first man to stand on top of the world.

THE DANGEROUS DRUNKEN DRIVER

IT MAY be necessary to take still more drastic action with respect to drunken automobile drivers on the highways. It may be necessary, also, to do something about the small high-speed cars which have become such a dangerous and potential instrument of death in the hands of those who mix their alcohol and gasoline.

Insurance statistics are disclosing a new and startling situation arising since repeal. Casualty companies report that we are now killing every day at least 10 times as many persons as the result of accidents caused by drunken drivers and that in far too many cases these deaths are among the young men and women and children of our cities and towns.

This accident rate is being driven up, says the report, both by drinking and by small high-speed cars, but what proportion of the blame should be borne by liquor, what by speed, is now being worked out by the complicated statistical machinery used by insurance companies to make rates.

Whatever be the result of ensuing investigation, one thing is certain. The worst possible enemy to highway safety is the small fast car in the hands of the drunken driver.

If the curve of mishaps of this character continues to mount, statutory regulations must be revised to meet it in some way or another.

We used to go out and bring home the bacon. Nowadays we expect to have it delivered.

Just another way of reminding you—the Postoffice Department says it will make deliveries on Christmas.

The Republicans may be right in their contention that politics is being mixed with relief, but that wouldn't be so bad if it were relief from politics.

Young King Peter of Yugo-Slavia is now head of the army, although he can hardly be said to have been graduated from his soldier toys.

A special black shirt organization is provided in Italy for boys as young as 6 years. Soon Mussolini will see that all boys are born in black shirts.

There are more private yachts than ever before, says an official report. So that's where prosperity went!

President Roosevelt took in the motor code for an overhauling and greased it up for winter operation.

A woman driver in Kansas City collided with four cars at one time. Women generally are good drivers, but when they're not, they make it worth while.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

CHAPTER XXX

Sidney Griff emerged from the row of telephone booths and waited impatiently until Bleeker came from an adjoining booth.

"Have you found out anything?" he asked.

Bleeker nodded, his face grimly purposeful.

"Racine," he said, "the detective, has located the Malone woman—that is, we think it's the Malone woman, although she's not going under that name right at present. She's located at 922 East Elm street and is going under the name of Blanche Stanway. Evidently Racine found out about her earlier in the day and kept his information under cover, because he went to the Palace hotel and waited there for 15 minutes. At the end of that time a woman joined him. From the description, I gather that it's Mrs. Frank B. Cathay. Together, they went to call on Blanche Stanway. They're still there. As soon as the boys got a line on them they telephoned a report in to the paper."

Sidney Griff frowned meditatively.

"We'll go there first," he said. "Detectives who are working for me have located Mary Briggs, the hitch-hiker. Naturally, she's important, but she's not as important as the Malone woman."

"Just who," asked Bleeker, "do you figure this Malone woman is?"

"That," Griff told him, "is something that remains to be determined. So far, I am working in this case on a theory and only on a theory."

"But you think it's going to check out?"

"It is checking out," Griff said.

"What's the theory?"

"In every case," Griff told him, "there's some key clew—something that dominates all of the other clews — something that points directly to the motive for the crime and the manner of its execution, as well as identity of its perpetrator. The key clew in this case was the counterfeit crook."

"The counterfeit crook?" Bleeker asked. "Who do you mean?"

"The man who posed as the pickpocket, who had Cathay's wallet, driving licenses and credentials."

"Why do you say he couldn't have been a crook?" Bleeker asked.

"Observe carefully," Griff told him. "I do not say the man is not a crook. I say that he was a counterfeit crook. In other words, he was posing as a pick-pocket and yet he was no pick-pocket, as even casual examination of the evidence would have shown."

"How do you mean?"

"He gave a very fair imitation of Cathay's signature at the police station. He gave a fairly accurate imitation of Cathay's signature when he registered at the hotel."

"He might have been a forger," Bleeker pointed out.

"Those things," Griff said, "take practice. But mark you, here is the most significant thing of all. He cashes a check at the hotel where he is registered under the name of Frank B. Cathay, and that check passed through the bank at Riverside. Moreover, he went to the hotel to keep an appointment with Harry Fancher, an inventor. That appointment had been made in advance, on stationery which either came from Cathay's office in Riverview or else was printed with consummate care so as to duplicate such stationery. Moreover, that letter seems to have been signed by Cathay.

"Therefore, this pocket-picking was no casual lifting of a purse. It was a part of a carefully planned scheme, a scheme which would have worked to perfection if the man hadn't taken a couple of drinks. He was stopped for a minor traffic violation. The officer smelled liquor on his breath and found that his description checked with that of a man who had been holding up service stations. The officer took him to the station for examination.

"Now, notice carefully what happened next. This man who had taken such pains to assume the identity of Frank B. Cathay now took equal pains to deny that identity. Only when he was surprised into betraying it by a check-up on the name under which he had rented the automobile, did he admit the name of Cathay. Yet, as was shown by subsequent developments, he had only to proclaim himself as Cathay to bring about his immediate release.

"However, we're wasting valuable time talking over clews while there's work to be done, so let's get to work."

"But look here," Bleeker demanded, "you don't have any doubt that Kenneth Boone and the girl, between them, were the ones who killed Morden, do you?"

"As to that," Griff said, "we are going to make some interesting and I think some rather startling discoveries. Come, let's see if we can't get to 922 East Elm street before the conference breaks up. It may be a conference that is worthy of our careful attention."

Much puzzled, Bleeker followed the criminologist to a taxicab.

"Remember," he said, when the cab was swaying through the streets, making speed toward the destination where the detective and the widow of the Riverview financier had been located, "that I'm running a newspaper. I'm a man of action. I don't go in for a lot of refined theories; I go in for action. The faster the action, the better I like it. Michigan Names On Sucker Lists

The new Ontario administration has promised that the boiler brokers to Toronto must go, and the work of mopping up is already under way.

The boiler shop broker is a mining tout with a sucker list and a long distance telephone. One outfit has been found in Toronto which has been operating forty telephones, with long distance and other charges of $16,000 in two months. From three to fifteen thousand letters and folders were mailed daily, including hundreds to Michigan addresses. The personnel of this and other places was found to consist of both Canadian and American sharpers, and the latter are being deported as fast as possible.

So numerous have these touts become that they have developed a slang jargon of their own. The "blaster" is the telephone operator who is specially trained to tell a plausible story in connection with fake mining stocks, and the "dynamiter" is the smooth, high pressure man who follows up the "blaster" by either personal contact or telephone to close the deal. The buyer, it is said, have less than one chance in a million to get their money back.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must get at the cause—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the intestines, which he gave to his patients for years.

COUNTY SWEPT BY DEMOCRATS

Republican Candidates Fail to Land One Office in County

From one end of the ticket to another, governor down to surveyor, the Democratic candidates had everything their own way in Delta county in the balloting Tuesday, and the Republicans, while victorious in the state, failed to snatch one county office from the Democratic avalanche of votes.

Sheriff William E. Miron led the Democratic procession of vote-gatherers, winning a total of 8,099 against the 3,146 of his Republican opponent, Philip Bruce. Prosecutor William J. Miller, the other "Bill" of the Delta county law enforcement combination, won over Attorney Harlan J. Yelland, 6,844 to 4,321. County Clerk R. H. Labre, Republican, waged a close battle of ballots with Peter LeClaire of Gladstone, but lost, 5,732 to 5,337. Mr. Labre was the only Republican to win in the Democratic landslide two years ago.

Ralph R. Olsen, present county treasurer, was re-elected, 7,624 to 3,583 over Albert J. Olson, and Werner Olson, register of deeds, was re-elected by a vote of 7,385 to 3,462 over his Republican opponent, Carl O. Peterson. John Erickson and Alger W. Strom, Democratic candidates, were elected circuit court commissioners over George W. Carr and Thomas J. Rushton, 6,765 and 6,443 to 4,006 and 4,485, respectively. For drain commissioner, Joseph Louis won from Ernest Laviolette, 6,671 and 4,150.

The Holy Name Society organized it and solicited for it but were aided in preparing it by their wives and other members of the Altar Society. About two hundred people were served the bountiful chicken supper and seventy-nine dollars were taken in for the supper alone. Afterwards a bingo or keno party was in progress for several hours. The total profits for the evening were almost a hundred dollars although the final report has not yet been submitted.

Entertaining Program Marks P. T. A. Meeting

An enteraining program featured the regular meeting of the Barr Parent-Teacher association held Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The program opened with a well presented group of Indian numbers, songs and readings by Miss Arlene Knipple's pupils. The numbers were announced by Arthur Wicklund.

Following this Mrs. Phoebe Benson, possessor of a lovely soprano voice, delighted her audience with two solos, "In the Roses," Rickert, and "The Serenade," Schubert. Mrs. F. I. Carlson played her accompaniments.

Miss Margaret Pease, of the Carnegie public library gave a very instructive talk on "Books for Children." She described the test of a good book for a child, that it must be interesting to the child, it must be suited to his years, well illustrated with pictures fitting the story, and to be of value should broaden the child's outlook of life.

She also spoke of the children's department of the library, closed at present for redecoration, which is reopening early in December with a large selection of new reading. In connection with her talk she presented each member with a list of new books for children, compiled by Jessie Gay Van Cleve.

The meeting closed with a business session at which plans were made for the annual Barr school fair which will be held Dec. 7, with Mrs. O'Connell, chairman.

Theatres

"HALSINGAR" SHOWING TODAY

"Halsingar," the new Swedish film, which will be shown at the Delft theatre this afternoon and evening, has met with most unusual success not only in the three Scandinavian countries, but recently here in America.

The large papers in Boston, Chicago and most recently in Minneapolis have given this film the most unstinted praise. The Minneapolis Journal gave it a marking of 5 A's, the very highest ever given to a film by that paper. Chicago Herald Examiner, in a streamer across a whole page said "Halsingar is Breath-Takingly lovely Throughout the Film."

No Scandinavian film has ever before received as much space and praise by the American press.

To this the rarely beautiful scenic background has no doubt contributed much as well as the simple but touching love story of the shepherd girl Birgit Ljusnar (played by Inga Tidblad) and the real life amongst the sturdy and hardworking peasants of Northern Sweden, interpreted by a fine case of players, that has made this unusual impression possible.

It is, however, not only the feature itself, but the short subjects shown with it, that makes this film showing rarely attractive.

First among these are "Med Uttern till Fjalls" in which the Swedish ski champion Sven Utterstrom and a few companions give an exhibition over mountains at Are, which the Boston Globe calls "awe-inspiring", second, "Midsommar I Halsingland" with wonderful scenery, a great peasant wedding, with thousand of young people in national costumes ending with a dance on the green, then "Spelmanspojkarna," five of the province's best musicians in old melodies, last but not least, "Dar Det Nappar," opening of the codfishing season at the Lofoten Islands.

This is a film exhibition in which all of the Scandinavian people in this vicinity should be greatly interested.

Luther League Is Presenting Program Tonight

The Luther League of Bethany Lutheran church will hold a regular meeting this evening beginning at 8 o'clock in the church social rooms.

Vocal solo Lillian Hanson, accompanied by Miriam Lund.

Guitar selection, "Cowboy's Dream" Josephine LaMere.

Trumpet solo, "The Lost Chord" David Anthony.

Selections, "Drifting," and "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled" Mrs. Albert Olson, Mrs. Harold Crebo, Mrs. Phoebe Benson, Mrs. Ole Sundquist and Mrs. Reisers, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Carlson.

Conrad Finstrom, League president, will preside at the meeting. Members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

Glass Sandals Worn in London

London, (AP)- Glass sandals for evening wear have made their appearance in London. They are made of finely-spun glass woven into a "fabric" which resembles woven silk. They are in glass of all colors.

A tall tree fell on the property of Golden Land, above Oroville, Cal., blocking a winding road in three places. It was necessary to cut the tree in seven sections to open the road to traffic.

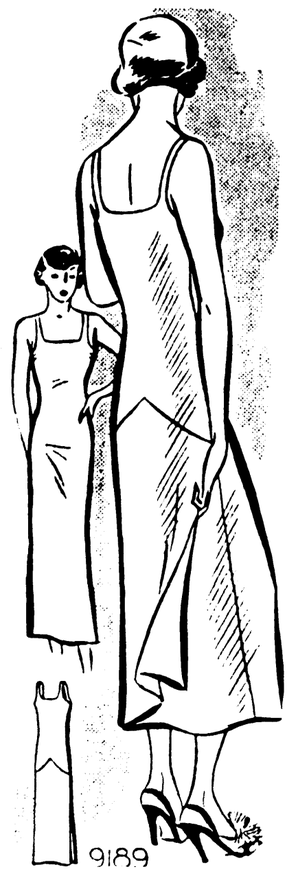
Newer Slip Is Designed For Longer Wear

BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9189

This slip is not only shadow-proof—it's styled for extra long wear as well. Notice how the skirt, double in back, is left open at one side from the hips down. That means there will be much less wear and tear on the material; consequently, there'll be fewer split seams. It also means that you won't "sit out the back" of your slip as quickly as many of us do. Then, too, the built up straps, cut in one piece with the bodice, are less likely to slip off the shoulders and ruin the effect of your daintiest dresses. To go under your nicer frocks you might make this slip of flesh-colored satin.

Pattern 9189 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 16 requires 3 3-4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

THE FALL AND WINTER ISSUE of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK is now off the press. It is big fashion news . . . and delightful reading . . . filled with stunning and easy-to-make patterns for street and house dresses, blouses, skirts, lingerie, sports clothes . . . all the essentials of a smart outfit for matron, maiden or little child. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to Daily Press Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

Entertaining Program Marks P.T.A. Meeting

An enteraining program featured the regular meeting of the Barr Parent-Teacher association held Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The program opened with a well presented group of Indian numbers, songs and readings by Miss Arlene Knipple's pupils. The numbers were announced by Arthur Wicklund.

Following this Mrs. Phoebe Benson, possessor of a lovely soprano voice, delighted her audience with two solos, "In the Roses," Rickert, and "The Serenade," Schubert. Mrs. F. I. Carlson played her accompaniments.

Miss Margaret Pease, of the Carnegie public library gave a very instructive talk on "Books for Children." She described the test of a good book for a child, that it must be interesting to the child, it must be suited to his years, well illustrated with pictures fitting the story, and to be of value should broaden the child's outlook of life.

She also spoke of the children's department of the library, closed at present for redecoration, which is reopening early in December with a large selection of new reading. In connection with her talk she presented each member with a list of new books for children, compiled by Jessie Gay Van Cleve.

The meeting closed with a business session at which plans were made for the annual Barr school fair which will be hed Dec. 7, with Mrs. O'Connell, chairman.

Theatres

"HALSINGAR" SHOWING TODAY

"Halsingar," the new Swedish film, which will be shown at the Delft theatre this afternoon and evening, has met with most unusual success not only in the three Scandinavian countries, but recently here in America.

The large papers in Boston, Chicago and most recently in Minneapolis have given this film the most unstinted praise. The Minneapolis Journal gave it a marking of 5 A's, the very highest ever given to a film by that paper. Chicago Herald Examiner, in a streamer across a whole page said "Halsingar is Breath-Takingly lovely Throughout the Film."

No Scandinavian film has ever before received as much space and praise by the American press.

To this the rarely beautiful scenic background has no doubt contributed much as well as the simple but touching love story of the shepherd girl Birgit Ljusnar (played by Inga Tidblad) and the real life amongst the sturdy and hardworking peasants of Northern Sweden, interpreted by a fine case of players, that has made this unusual impression possible.

It is, however, not only the feature itself, but the short subjects shown with it, that makes this film showing rarely attractive.

First among these are "Med Uttern till Fjalls" in which the Swedish ski champion Sven Utterstrom and a few companions give an exhibition over mountains at Are, which the Boston Globe calls "awe-inspiring", second, "Midsommar i Halsingland" with wonderful scenery, a great peasant wedding, with thousand of young people in national costumes ending with a dance on the green, then "Spelmanspojkarna," five of the province's best musicians in old melodies, last but not least, "Dar Det Nappar," opening of the codfishing season at the Lofoten Islands.

This is a film exhibition in which all of the Scandinavian people in this vicinity should be greatly interested.

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9189

This slip is not only shadow-proof—it's styled for extra long wear as well. Notice how the skirt, double in back, is left open at one side from the hips down. That means there will be much less wear and tear on the material; consequently, there'll be fewer split seams. It also means that you won't "sit out the back" of your slip as quickly as many of us do. Then, too, the built up straps, cut in one piece with the bodice, are less likely to slip off the shoulders and ruin the effect of your daintiest dresses. To go under your nicer frocks you might make this slip of flesh-colored satin.

Pattern 9189 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 16 requires 3 3-4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

THE FALL AND WINTER ISSUE of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK is now off the press. It is big fashion news . . . and delightful reading . . . filled with stunning and easy-to-make patterns for street and house dresses, blouses, skirts, lingerie, sports clothes . . . all the essentials of a smart outfit for matron, maiden or little child. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to Daily Press Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

HALL SPEAKER IN EXERCISES

Superintendent Tells of School Financing At Program

"The Financing of Michigan's Schools" was the subject of Supt. of Schools A. F. Hall's address at the opening exercises of National Education Week at the high school on Monday afternoon. A large number of adults as well as the school students were in attendance.

"The present financial crisis of the schools was caused by the break-down of the property tax system of the state and the 15-mill limitation," said Mr. Hall. "And in spite of legislation by the regular and special sessions of the legislature last year, there is little hope for a normal school program in the state for 1934-35."

His talk revealed that with the failure of the tax program to yield sufficient funds it is the students who will have to pay through the reduction in the educational program. Schools throughout the state have been forced to curtail services, cut teacher staffs, reduce the number of instructors and shorten the school year. The results of this crippled program, he declared will be seen in future generations.

The humanizing and vocational branches of the schools work have been most crippled and all of the many expedients that have been resorted to in cutting school costs have greatly impaired the efficiency of the whole system to a great extent.

The need for adequate educational facilities, he said, is greater now than ever because it is the generation now in the schools that will be the people upon whom a large part of the solution of our present difficulties will fall.

Principal R. H. Wilson in a short talk explained the purposes of American Education Week as an effort to call the attention of the public to what is being done in nthe schools and termed it a challenge to the public to support the schools and to the students and teachers to strive to produce the highest possible type of results.

Other speakers on the program were students who spoke upon school topics. Robert Orr, president of the senior class presided as chairman. The new freshman-sophomore girls glee club made its first appearance under the direction of Miss Margaret Johnson.

Carol LaVigne spoke on "Milestones in Educational Progress." Her talk was a review of the past 300 years of progress in our educational system. Ruth Frans, in her talk, "Planning for Tomorrow," told of educational developments that pont the way for future trends in schools. "Making the Most of Our Rural Schools," was the subject of a talk by Fern Smith. "Development of New Types of Schools," was a talk by Mabel Slough in which the growth of specialized school departments was traced and the work of several explained.

The exercises were the first of two planned for the week by the students who make up the staff of the M. 4F. S. Crier, student publication. Miss Mary Robbins is the faculty advisor of the group. The closing exercises of the week will be on Friday when the same group of students presents an Armistice Day program. The highlight of the program will be an address by a member of th American Legion on that organization's program for peace.

Young Baptists Have Delegates As Guests Here

The young people of the First Baptist church will be the hosts to the young people of the Baptist churches of the upper peninsula on Friday evening of this week. Delegations will come from Kingsford, Escanaba, Marquette and the Soo. The meeting will be in the nature of a rally. Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. in the church parlors.

Reports of the delegates will be given, brief addresses by the representative of each society and an address by Russell Wilson on the topic: "Youth Comes of Age," will form the main part of the program. Several of the ministers will also speak.

Music will be furnished by each organization providing a musical selection. The young people of the local church are urged to be present to welcome the delegates of the other churches.

Union Services to Mark Armistice Day

Armistice Day will be observed by a Union Service at the First Baptist church next Sunday evening. The Methodist, Presbyterian and First Baptist churches will unite for this service. Rev. S. Bottrell, and Rev. D. Huenink will give appropriate addresses for the occasion.

Armistice Day falls on Sunday this year and all the churches of the country will observe the day by special services. The question of war and peace is an important one at this time. It is a world problem and Christian people should be intelligently informed on this question. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mayor Issues Proclamation On Roll Call

Mayor Gierke, yesterday issued a proclamation in which he has appealed to all local citizens to support the American Red Cross organization in the annual Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and ends Thanksgiving. The proclamation follows:

"As mayor of the city of Manistique I deem it my duty and privilege to call public attention to the eighteenth annual membership campaign of the American Red Cross which is to be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving.

"The Red Cross is solely dependent upon individual backing. Lacking this support the organization would be unable to carry on its meritorious work during disasters, among war veterans, in the health field, first aid, and its numerous other tasks which have greatly increased in the last five years of economic strife.

"Every local citizen can answer the Roll Call appeal with assurance that each contribution to this cause will be treated by the Red Cross as a trust fund of the public.

"Frank Gierke, Sr., Mayor."

ANNUAL ROLL CALL STARTS

Appeal for Memberships Issued by Local Red Cross Chapter

With Armistice Day comes the opening of the American Red Cross drive for membership. That the work of the Red Cross is appreciated and believed of great value has been evidenced by the response of the public to its call for memberships in previous years. It is the hope of officials of the local chapter that the roll call here will meet with even greater success this year.

Following is the appeal sent out by W. B. Thomas, chairman of the Schoolcraft County Chapter:

"In accordance with a long established custom, the American Red Cross will conduct its annual Roll Call in this and thousands of other communities throughout the country from Armistice Day until Thanksgiving.

"The Red Cross is no stranger in this community. Locally, it has rendered an indispensable service during the period of depression and partial recovery. Harry L. Hopkins, director of the Federal Emergency Relief administration, has said of our organization: 'Red Cross Chapters throughout America were the first line of defense for the unemployed during those trying times before the states and the counties, and finally the federal government, put their funds at the disposal of the unemployed.' Since all its activities are made possible by individual support, the Schoolcraft County Chapter is appealing to the people of Schoolcraft county to respond quickly and graciously to taking memberships. One dollar is the cost of membership. One-half of this amount is retained by the local chapter for use in the county and one-half is given to the national organization."

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS....

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets! They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use

There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.

Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all!

If you have a youngster who doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

Make this Test!

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved and nature restores your regularity.

When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.

HALL SPEAKER IN EXERCISES

Superintendent Tells of School Financing At Program

"The Financing of Michigan's Schools" was the subject of Supt. of Schools A. F. Hall's address at the opening exercises of National Education Week at the high school on Monday afternoon. A large number of adults as well as the school students were in attendance.

"The present financial crisis of the schools was caused by the break-down of the property tax system of the state and the 15-mill limitation," said Mr. Hall. "And in spite of legislation by the regular and special sessions of the legislature last year, there is little hope for a normal school program in the state for 1934-35."

His talk revealed that with the failure of the tax program to yield sufficient funds it is the students who will have to pay through the reduction in the educational program. Schools throughout the state have been forced to curtail services, cut teacher staffs, reduce the number of instructors and shorten the school year. The results of this crippled program, he declared will be seen in future generations.

The humanizing and vocational branches of the schools work have been most crippled and all of the many expedients that have been resorted to in cutting school costs have greatly impaired the efficiency of the whole system to a great extent.

The need for adequate educational facilities, he said, is greater now than ever because it is the generation now in the schools that will be the people upon whom a large part of the solution of our present difficulties will fall.

Principal R. H. Wilson in a short talk explained the purposes of American Education Week as an effort to call the attention of the public to what is being done i nthe schools and termed it a challenge to the public to support the schools and to the students and teachers to strive to produce the highest possible type of results.

Other speakers on the program were students who spoke upon school topics. Robert Orr, president of the senior class presided as chairman. The new freshman-sophomore girls glee club made its first appearance under the direction of Miss Margaret Johnson.

Carol LaVigne spoke on "Milestones in Educational Progress." Her talk was a review of the past 300 years of progress in our educational system. Ruth Frans, in her talk, "Planning for Tomorrow," told of educational developments that pont the way for future trends in schools. "Making the Most of Our Rural Schools," was the subject of a talk by Fern Smith. "Development of New Types of Schools," was a talk by Mabel Slough in which the growth of specialized school departments was traced and the work of several explained.

The exercises were the first of two planned for the week by the students who make up the staff of the M. H. S. Crier, student publication. Miss Mary Robbins is the faculty advisor of the group. The closing exercises of the week will be on Friday when the same group of students presents an Armistice Day program. The highlight of the program will be an address by a member of th American Legion on that organization's program for peace.

Young Baptists Have Delegates As Guests Here

The young people of the First Baptist church will be the hosts to the young people of the Baptist churches of the upper peninsula on Friday evening of this week. Delegations will come from Kingsford, Escanaba, Marquette and the Soo. The meeting will be in the nature of a rally. Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. in the church parlors.

Reports of the delegates will be given, brief addresses by the representative of each society and an address by Russell Wilson on the topic: "Youth Comes of Age," will form the main part of the program. Several of the ministers will also speak.

Music will be furnished by each organization providing a musical selection. The young people of the local church are urged to be present to welcome the delegates of the other churches.

Union Services to Mark Armistice Day

Armistice Day will be observed by a Union Service at the First Baptist church next Sunday evening. The Methodist, Presbyterian and First Baptist churches will unite for this service. Rev. S. Bottrell, and Rev. D. Huenink will give appropriate addresses for the occasion.

Armistice Day falls on Sunday this year and all the churches of the country will observe the day by special services. The question of war and peace is an important one at this time. It is a world problem and Christian people should be intelligently informed on this question. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mayor Issues Proclamation On Roll Call

Mayor Gierke, yesterday issued a proclamation in which he has appealed to all local citizens to support the American Red Cross organization in the annual Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and ends Thanksgiving. The proclamation follows:

"As mayor of the city of Manistique I deem it my duty and privilege to call public attention to the eighteenth annual membership campaign of the American Red Cross which is to be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving.

"The Red Cross is solely dependent upon individual backing. Lacking this support the organization would be unable to carry on its meritorious work during disasters, among war veterans, in the health field, first aid, and its numerous other tasks which have greatly increased in the last five years of economic strife.

"Every local citizen can answer the Roll Call appeal with assurance that each contribution to this cause will be treated by the Red Cross as a trust fund of the public.

"Frank Gierke, Sr., Mayor."

Appeal for Memberships Issued by Local Red Cross Chapter

With Armistice Day comes the opening of the American Red Cross drive for membership. That the work of the Red Cross is appreciated and believed of great value has been evidenced by the response of the public to its call for memberships in previous years. It is the hope of officials of the local chapter that the roll call here will meet with even greater success this year.

Following is the appeal sent out by W. B. Thomas, chairman of the Schoolcraft County Chapter:

"In accordance with a long established custom, the American Red Cross will conduct its annual Roll Call in this and thousands of other communities throughout the country from Armistice Day until Thanksgiving.

"The Red Cross is no stranger in this community. Locally, it has rendered an indispensable service during the period of depression and partial recovery. Harry L Hopkins, director of the Federal Emergency Relief administration has said of our organization: 'Red Cross Chapters throughout America were the first line of defense for the unemployed during those trying times before the states and the counties, and finally the federal government, put their funds at the disposal of the unemployed.' Since all its activities are made possible by individual support, the Schoolcraft County Chapter is appealing to the people of Schoolcraft county to respond quickly and graciously to taking memberships. One dollar is the cost of membership. One-half of this amount is retained by the local chapter for use in the county and one-half is given to the national organization."

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS . . . .

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets! They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use

There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh catharties. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.

Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all!

If you have a youngster who doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

Make this Test!

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved and nature restores your regularity.

When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.
Mrs. M. McMaster, Peoria, Ill.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Stocks took the upward path today after hesitating at the crossroads in the forenoon as Well Street digested the election results.

A comparatively heavy wave of buying in the last hour swelled the day's turnover to 1,111,090 shares, the largest since October 11, in contrast with 759,000 Monday, before the election holiday.

Most speculative markets gave expression to inflationary impulses, attributed partly to interpretation of the new deal victory at the polls as meaning additional heavy government spending.

U. S. Bonds Ease

Favored by an improved technical position as a result of recent declines, some commodities outdistanced stocks in vigor on the advance. Wheat futures rose 2½ to 4 1-8 cents a bushel at Chicago. Cotton gained .80 to $1.10 a bale. Hides and rubber were among the strong markets.

United States government bonds eased but most corporate bonds were steady to firm in quiet dealings.

Brokers with foreign connections said there had been increased demand for American shares from Europe. They ascribed the buying from that source in part to precautions against the possibility of a breach in the gold bloc's front.

The Democratic sweep to victory did not surprise the financial community, as was apparent in the slow, routine movements of shares in the forenoon. But, in the absence of liquidation, fresh buying of speculative issues quickened interest in stocks and the recent slow advance was resumed at a faster pace in late trading.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO LARD

CHICAGO POTATOES
Chicago, Nov. 7—Potatoes 73, on track 239, total U. S. shipments 630; supplies liberal northern stock, demand and trading slow, account heavy truck receipts, market dull.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Nov. 7—Sudden broadening of speculative demand ran wheat prices up more than 4 cents a bushel late today to above $1.00 a bushel.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's top level, 2½ to 4 1-8 cents above Monday's finish, May .99 7-8 to 1.00, corn 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 up, May 80½ to 80 5-8, oats 3-4 to 1¼ advanced, and provisions at 17 to 30 cents gain.

Both December and May wheat in Chicago soared to $1.00 a bushel or over for the first time since the middle of October. From the outset of today's trading, grain prices showed an advancing trend, and bulls contended that the election results would at least clarify the future outlook.

Corn advances though, were first to get under way. Eastern and Chicago purchasing of corn was associated with unsatisfactory husking returns and with high prices paid in the country by feeders. Oats and rye followed corn.

Provisions all went to a new high price record for the season, largely responsive to grain strength.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Cattle, 8,000 commercial, 500 government; calves, 2,500 commercial, 200 government; strictly good and choice steers and yearlings steady; all others unevenly steady to 15 lower; mostly 10 to 15 off on in-between grade yearlings and similarly conditioned weighty steers, fairly active trade considering liberal receipts and substantial advance scored earlier in week; all other classes steady, it being largely a steer run; bulk fat steers, 6.75 to 9.25; top, 10.00; best light steers, 9.40; heifer yearlings up to 8.40.

Sheep, 16,000; fully steady on all classes; top native lambs to small killers, 6.65; bulk natives and fed western comebacks, 6.60 downward; slaughter ewes, 1.75 to 2.25; top, 2.50; feeding lambs, 5.60 to 5.75; bulk, 5.65; lambs, 90 lbs. down, good and choice, 6.00 to 6.65; common and medium, 5.25 to 6.10; Ewes, 90 to 150 lbs., good and choice, 1.65 to 2.50; all weights common and medium, 1.50 to 1.90; feeding lambs, 50 to 75 lbs., good and choice, 5.50 to 6.10.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Secondary issues rallied sharply in the final hour of trading in the bond market today but prime investments, including U. S. government loans, continued in the narrow range established in earlier dealings.

Transfers aggregated $12,721,000, par value, compared with $8,177,000 on Monday. Government bonds accounted for around $4,210,000 of this compared with $1,200,000 the day before. Standard Statistics Co. average of 60 domestic corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point to $4.2.

Issues gaining one to two points included obligations of American Writing Paper, Boston & Maine, Bush Terminal, Certain-teed, St. Paul, Childs Co., Chile Copper, Colorado Fuel & Iron, International Mercantile Marine, Kelly Springfield, New England Railroad, Portland Gas & Electric and Studebaker.

A number of U. S. treasury issues sold as much as ½ point lower in forenoon trading but steadied somewhat later and shaded the losses. Closing prices were 2-32nds to 10-32nds lower in all groups except Home Owners Loan and Federal Farm Mortgage issues which were in fair demand all day and closed a trifle higher.

Singer Manufacturing rose 12 points on dealings, closing at 250, a new high for the year. Also on small transactions Quaker Oats got up 8 and Pittsburgh Plate Glass rose about 3. Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Newmont Mining, Carrier Corp., Montgomery Ward A and A. O. Smith finished about 1 to 2 higher.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

"I didn't know," Griff said. "I watched her lips when she spoke. I knew that she was nervous and that she was lying. I knew, also, that her lies were not the swift extemporaneous lies of one who has been unexpectedly cornered, but that they had been carefully rehearsed. They were lies which were not impregnable, but they had been given to her to use for the purpose of delaying investigation until a certain thing could be accomplished."

"And that certain thing?" asked Bleeker.

Griff shrugged his shoulders. "It may already have been accomplished," he said. "Who can tell?"

"Don't you think you're all wet on that business?" Bleeker insisted. "Morden wasn't such a brainy man. He was resourceful. He thought of trying to trace Cathay through his car. He found the garage. In some way from the garage, he got a lead to the apartment house and someone in the apartment house gave him the information that he wanted. He, therefore, thought this young woman was merely a woman in the case, a person whose name might be linked with that of Cathay.

"He went to see her; she was out. He rode around, investigating other clews for an hour or so, and then returned. She was in. He talked with her. Kenneth Boone came in. Boone has a jealous disposition. He is hot-headed and impulsive. We knew he carries a weapon. Probably he tried to throw Morden out. Morden would have taken a great deal of throwing out. There was a struggle. Boone lost his head and hit Morden over the head with the gun. That's all there was to it."

Griff did not argue the point. "Perhaps," he said in a tone that was almost dreamy, "but let's not make the mistake of reconstructing our crime until we have all of the facts. Here's 922 East Elm street. We're going to get something here."

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Stocks took the upward path today after hesitating at the crossroads in the forenoon as Well Street digested the election results.

A comparatively heavy wave of buying in the last hour swelled the day's turnover to 1,111,090 shares, the largest since October 11, in contrast with 759,000 Monday, before the election holiday.

Most speculative markets gave expression to inflationary impulses, attributed partly to interpretation of the new deal victory at the polls as meaning additional heavy government spending.

U. S. Bonds Ease

Favored by an improved technical position as a result of recent declines, some commodities outdistanced stocks in vigor on the advance. Wheat futures rose 2½ to 4 1-8 cents a bushel at Chicago. Cotton gained .80 to $1.10 a bale. Hides and rubber were among the strong markets.

United States government bonds eased but most corporate bonds were steady to firm in quiet dealings.

Brokers with foreign connections said there had been increased demand for American shares from Europe. They ascribed the buying from that source in part to precautions against the possibility of a breach in the gold bloc's front.

The Democratic sweep to victory did not surprise the financial community, as was apparent in the slow, routine movements of shares in the forenoon. But, in the absence of liquidation, fresh buying of speculative issues quickened interest in stocks and the recent slow advance was resumed at a faster pace in late trading.

CHICAGO POTATOES
Chicago, Nov. 7—Potatoes 73, on track 239, total U. S. shipments 630; supplies liberal northern stock, demand and trading slow, account heavy truck receipts, market dull.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Nov. 7—Sudden broadening of speculative demand ran wheat prices up more than 4 cents a bushel late today to above $1.00 a bushel.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's top level, 2½ to 4 1-8 cents above Monday's finish, May .99 7-8 to 1.00, corn 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 up, May 80½ to 80 5-8, oats 3-4 to 1½ advanced, and provisions at 17 to 30 cents gain.

Both December and May wheat in Chicago soared to $1.00 a bushel or over for the first time since the middle of October. From the outset of today's trading, grain prices showed an advancing trend, and bulls contended that the election results would at least clarify the future outlook.

Corn advances though, were first to get under way. Eastern and Chicago purchasing of corn was associated with unsatisfactory husking returns and with high prices paid in the country by feeders. Oats and rye followed corn.

Provisions all went to a new high price record for the season, largely responsive to grain strength.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, Nov. 7—Hogs 29,000, including 11,000 direct; slow, 10 to 15 lower than Tuesday; 220 to 320 lbs., 5.75 to 5.85; top 5.95; 170 to 210 lbs., 5.25 to 5.75; light lights, 4.50 to 5.15; good slaughter pigs, 3.00 to 4.00; packing sows, mainly 5.40 to 5.65; shippers took 1,000; estimated holdover 3,000.

Cattle, 8,000 commercial, 500 government; calves, 2,500 commercial, 200 government; strictly good and choice steers and yearlings steady; all others unevenly steady to 15 lower; mostly 10 to 15 off on in-between grade yearlings and similarly conditioned weighty steers, fairly active trade considering liberal receipts and substantial advance scored earlier in week; all other classes steady, it being largely a steer run; bulk fat steers, 6.75 to 9.25; top, 10.00; best light steers, 9.40; heifer yearlings up to 8.40.

Sheep, 10,000; fully steady on all classes; top native lambs to small killers, 6.65; bulk natives and fed western comebacks, 6.50 downward; slaughter ewes, 1.75 to 2.25; top, 2.50; feeding lambs, 5.00 to 5.75; bulk, 5.65; lambs, 90 lbs. down, good and choice, 6.00 to 6.65; common and medium, 5.25 to 6.10; Ewes, 90 to 150 lbs., good and choice, 1.65 to 2.50; all weights, common and medium, 1.50 to 1.90; feeding lambs, 50 to 75 lbs., good and choice, 5.50 to 6.10.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Secondary issues rallied sharply in the final hour of trading in the bond market today but prime investments, including U. S. government loans, continued in the narrow range established in earlier dealings.

Transfers aggregated $12,721,000, par value, compared with $8,177,000 on Monday. Government bonds accounted for around $4,210,000 of this compared with $1,200,000 the day before. Standard Statistics Co. average of 60 domestic corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point to 84.2.

Issues gaining one to two points included obligations of American Writing Paper, Boston & Maine, Bush Terminal, Certain-teed, St. Paul, Childs Co., Chile Copper, Colorado Fuel & Iron, International Mercantile Marine, Kelly Springfield, New England Railroad, Portland Gas & Electric and Studebaker.

A number of U. S. treasury issues sold as much as ½ point lower in forenoon trading but steadied somewhat later and shaded the losses. Closing prices were 2-32nds to 10-32nds lower in all groups except Home Owners Loan and Federal Farm Mortgage issues which were in fair demand all day and closed a trifle higher.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

"I didn't know," Griff said. "I watched her lips when she spoke. I knew that she was nervous and that she was lying. I knew, also, that her lies were not the swift extemporaneous lies of one who has been unexpectedly cornered, but that they had been carefully rehearsed. They were lies which were not impregnable, but they had been given to her to use for the purpose of delaying investigation until a certain thing could be accomplished."

"And that certain thing?" asked Bleeker.

Griff shrugged his shoulders. "It may already have been accomplished," he said. "Who can tell?"

"Don't you think you're all wet on that business?" Bleeker insisted. "Morden wasn't such a brainy man. He was resourceful. He thought of trying to trace Cathay through his car. He found the garage. In some way from the garage, he got a lead to the apartment house and someone in the apartment house gave him the information that he wanted. He, therefore, thought this young woman was merely a woman in the case, a person whose name might be linked with that of Cathay.

"He went to see her; she was out. He rode around, investigating other clews for an hour or so, and then returned. She was in. He talked with her. Kenneth Boone came in. Boone has a jealous disposition. He is hot-headed and impulsive. We knew he carries a weapon. Probably he tried to throw Morden out. Morden would have taken a great deal of throwing out. There was a struggle. Boone lost his head and hit Morden over the head with the gun. That's all there was to it."

Griff did not argue the point. "Perhaps," he said in a tone that was almost dreamy, "but let's not make the mistake of reconstructing our crime until we have all of the facts. Here's 922 East Elm street. We're going to get something here."

(To Be Continued)

Layden Thinks His Men Will Beat Navy

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 7 (AP)—Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who called the score against Pittsburgh exactly right, became so optimistic following today's workout that he predicted the Irish "will beat Navy Saturday if they play the ball they're capable of playing."

Harry Becker of Louisville, Ky., may start at right tackle in place of Johnny Michuta, who injured his knee in the Pitt game. Notre Dame regulars stopped Navy plays cold today and showed plenty of blocking on offense.

With College Grid Players

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 7. (AP)—Coach Ossie Solem attempted to bolster the University of Iowa running attack today as he sent the Hawkeyes through an hour's dummy scrimmage against the freshmen. George Teyro, quarterback, was confined to his bed with tonsilitis and it is doubtful whether he will be ablo to play this week.

Chicago, Nov. 7. (AP)—Jay Berwanger, Chicago's big scoring ace, undoubtedly will get into the Ohio State game Saturday, but Coach Clark Shaughnessy indicated during today's drill he would keep the big fellow out of the passing attack. During a heavy but brief scrimmage today, Shaughnessy moulded his aerial maneuvers around Nyquist and Flinn. Clarence Wright, left tackle, is definitely out of the game because of injuries and will be replaced by John Womer.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 7. (AP)—So thoroughly have Northwestern's scouts studied Illinois plays that the freshmen tonight were giving 22 different passing plays to use against the Wildcat regulars in preparation for the Illini invasion Saturday. For almost two full hours the yearlings tossed passes of the Illini brand. Coach Dick Hanley said he doesn't intend to play a strictly defensive game Saturday, but that his team faces the task of holding the score down.

Minneapolis, Nov. 7. (AP)—The Gophers today inspected Indiana's odd five man backfield to get acquainted with Hoosier methods for Saturday. A half dozen variations of the extra large backfield were shown to the three Minnesota varsity teams separately with Coach Bierman as instructor. After this, the Gophers polished their own attack. Frank Larson, with an injured ankle, was still out of uniform.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7. (AP)—Michigan trick plays were effectively stopped by the Badger varsity here today, as Coach Clarence Spears limited his teams' drill almost entirely to defense. With Schnelke definitely out of Saturday's game because of a shoulder injury, John Fish, was used today in his place at right halfback.

Dick Lubinsky, LaCrosse sophomore, was given a trial at quarterback, and Eddie Jankowski was returned to fullback.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7. (AP)—In the last hard drill before the Northwestern game, Bob Zuppke drove the Illinois squad through a long scrimmage today against the freshmen and the varsity showed its best form in several weeks. Co-Captains Beynon and Bennis, with Dykstra, an end, watched the drill in street clothes, but all will be in shape for the battle. Today's workout was purely offensive for the varsity, which scored seven touchdowns while holding the freshmen scoreless.

DRIVE LAUNCHED FOR BEAR GAME

Blackhawks See Victory Over Soo; Nordberg Will Play

An intensive ticket selling drive is being launched for the Escanaba Blackhawks-Soo Bears football game which will be played here Sunday at the Escanaba athletic field. The game, the most important on the Hawks' home schedule this season, will wind up the season for the Escanaba aggregation.

Escanaba business men showing genuine interest in the affairs of the Blackhawks are cooperating in the sponsoring of the big clash and the business district will be canvassed by these men to assure a pre-game drive that will guarantee expenses for the game, and leave the receipts taken in at the gate to buy the grid players of the Blackhawks a gift in recognition of their season's work.

The game itself promises to be another hammer and tongs scrap that has characterized the Escanaba-Soo series. The Bears this season hold one victory over the Blackhawks and the Escanaba team is anxious to even up the score. Coach Rushton has indicated that his team is rarin' to go and looks forward to a victory over the Bears.

The Escanaba lineup will be strengthened considerably by the acquisition of Carl Nordberg who will don a suit to help the Hawks gain their desired victory over the Bears. Nordberg was added to the Escanaba squad last week but did not play against Ishpeming last Sunday because it was decided to keep him out of that game to prevent any possibility of injury which would prevent him from getting into the more important Soo Bears game. Nordberg will give the Blackhawks a powerful attack as he is a hard smashing ball toter, shifty and difficult to bring down. Also, he is one of the finest blockers seen on a local football field.

Roeder, the Hawks' outstanding lineman, will not get into the Soo Bears game because of the injuries he received in the game with Ishpeming last Sunday, but McGowan, former St. Joseph great end who now is playing at St. Norbert's college, will play with the Blackhawks here Sunday against the Bears.

WOLVES SEEK CARIDEO SCALP

Missouri Figures It Has Worst Grid Team in United States

BY CHARLES GRUMICH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Kansas City, Nov. 7 (AP)—Frank Carideo knows how it feels to be at the top of the football world—a bitterly ephemeral feeling it is.

For two straight years at Notre Dame he was the all-American quarterback, interviewed at length wherever he went, sought by autograph hunters.

All that is behind the stocky little man of Italian extraction is coach at the University of Missouri, is listening to a loud anvil chorus. The wolves are howling for his scalp as he attempts to lift Missouri by its bootstraps out of a football depression without the material to accomplish what would have been hailed as a miracle.

Lack of school spirit was blamed for the university's poor football showing, in an editorial in the Missouri Student, official campus newspaper.

Entitled "How long, Oh Lord, how long," the editorial declared there "is no excuse" for the team's failure to win a major victory since the fall of 1932.

"How much longer," the article asked, "is the University of Missouri going to be made to suffer the disgrace of having the poorest football team in the United States.

Three squads from Missouri have borne the Carideo stamp. The third and best, this season, has a single unearned touchdown to its credit, resulting when a guard fell on a fumbled ball in Chicago's end zone.

berg beat Frank A. Picard, his Democratic opponent for United States senator, by more than 50,000. Thomas Reed, of Shelby, was chosen lieutenant governor over Allen E. Stebbins, Democratic incumbent. Harry S. Toy, prosecutor of Wayne county, was named attorney general, defeating Patrick H. O'Brien, Democratic incumbent.

When Fitzgerald's lead rose above 50,000 Lacy sent him a telegram of congratulation and requested that all citizens cooperate with the Republican executive-elect in the interests of good government. Fitzgerald said that he will keep his pledges to the citizens of the state. United States Senator James Couzens, Republican, after the result of the election was known, made a speech before the Optimist club in Detroit in which he said "the things for everyone to do is show continued faith in President Roosevelt's policies. Abandon partisanship and aid the program."

Violent Swing

The swing of votes that finally shattered the two-year-old reign of the Democrats was violent. Early returns indicated an almost certain victory for the Democrats as outstate Republican majorities failed to measure up to expectations. The thing that made possible the election of Vandenberg and Fitzgerald was that Democratic hopes likewise were dashed in Wayne county balloting. Predicting an advantage in that county of 100,000 to 150,000 votes, the Democrats actually gained about 40,000, which was insufficient to offset the outstate Republican majorities.

In the process of demoting the Democrats to the minority party the Republicans reclaimed much territory lost in the Roosevelt land-slide of 1932. Many counties which cast heavy votes for Democratic candidates two years ago swung into the other column.

The election shattered all off-years. The total vote promised to be close to 1,200,000.

Stack and Fry, in apparently defeating two members of the Republican ticket, ran far ahead of their own slate. They contended with their opponents on even terms in many sections outstate and piled up leads that could not be overcome in Wayne county.

NEW DEAL CRITIC

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 7. (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, whose Republican victory in Michigan, Tuesday, projected him into the forefront of national Republican politics, announced tonight that he would continue to be an outspoken critic of the new deal movements he considered dangerous, and an exponent of the features he considered laudable.

"Liberal Republicanism," he said, "is called to serve the mass welfare of our whole people and the stabilities of the constitutional government in the true Lincoln tradition.

"In such a role it will one day deserve to return to national power.

"I am conscious of a sense of emphasized responsibility in respect to my new term of senate service, particularly in view of the results elsewhere in the nation.

"There must always be a vigorous and effective minority opposition under our form of government, not in a destructive sense, but in terms of constructive criticism and contribution.

"I have frankly told Michigan throughout my campaign that I consider the present problem to be to separate the good from the bad in the president's program; then to save and expand the good and condemn the bad. x x x This will continue to be my commitment."

A Ball Player's Vacation

Pity the poor ball player! He has to work short hours, gets good dough for doing it, and in the winter time, while frigid blasts chill the blood of northerners, he can spend his vacations in California, cavorting around with movie queens. Here is Ernie Orsatti, left, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, pedaling around with Lucille Lund, flicker star. Right is Vic Orsatti, Ernie's brother.

National League To Consider New President Today

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Without any indication in advance of what action they may take, club owners of the National league will hold a special meeting here tomorrow to consider naming a successor to John Arnold Heydler, who resigned suddenly last week after 17 years as president of the baseball organization.

Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants and a member of the board of directors which accepted Heydler's resignation, effective Dec. 11, said today no plans or procedure had crystallized, in advance of the meeting.

"Tomorrow will be our first real opportunity to discuss the whole situation," said Stoneham. "So far as I know, there are no outstanding candidates to succeed Heydler, nor can I say what may be done with a view to having the president reconsider his decision to retire."

SIWASH MAKES GRID HISTORY

Knox Hasn't Won in 24 Games; No Scores Yet This Year

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP)—Football history is being made at Knox as the sons of proud Old Siwash continue tradition started three years ago yesterday against Cornell.

Siwash has waged 24 consecutive games in the same fashion to gain distinction throughout the nation—distinction in defeat. If the team loses Saturday against Coe, it will have established a new national record for consecutive defeats, beating Hobart's mark of 24.

Only seniors can recall that famous afternoon on October 31, 1931, when Siwash downed Beloit, 7 to 0. That was the last time the bell on Old Main has sounded its victory peals Saturday afternoons.

The gloom that spread over Mudville when the mighty Casey struck out doesn't prevail in Galesburg, however. Each week the fans attend games in ever-increasing numbers, realizing that athletic history is being made. A stranger would think to look at the crowds that the sons of Siwash were duplicating the winning marches of Southern California and Notre Dame teams in their heyday.

Three coaches have been at the helm of the Knox teams during the record equalling losing streak. E. R. Jackson coached them in 1932. Major Leigh Bell had a similar misfortune in '33. Lloyd Burdick, former University of Illinois and Chicago Bears tackle, is the master mind at Siwash this season and the wags are telling him that he is doing even a better job than his luckless predecessors. During the past two years, Knox scored occasionally, but so far this season, under Coach Burdick, the team hasn't scored a point in five straight games.

BACHMAN CUTS OUT SCRIMMAGE

Spartan Coach Desires Full Strength for Syracuse Game

East Lansing, Nov. 7 (AP)—Charley Bachman ran down the curtain this afternoon on scrimmages for his Michigan State football team this week.

Anxious to avoid further injuries before the Syracuse game, Bachman limited the punishment for his first string today to a fairly heavy defensive drill. He then put his charges through a few minutes of a shadow offensive.

As a whole the injury situation showed decided improvement featured by the dismissal from the hospital of Ed Klewicki, Michigan State's "tough guy" of all time. The rugged end had been in the institution two days with an excruiating pain that shot all the way from his knee to the groin.

The big Hamtramack boy had been bothered all year by more or less serfous injuries but is always out there on the field at game time. For more than three weeks he has been suffering with a ruptured blood vessel in his arm. Incidentally, Klewicki, who is a senior, is playing the best ball of his three-year career in the present campaign.

Warmbein to Play

Howard Zindel, sophomore tackle, was still in the hospital with a shin injury but attendants assured he will leave the institution tomorrow.

The third member of the injury trio—Kurt Warmbein, Michigan State's best triple threat man in years—continues to improve. Coaches, however, claim they can't be certain whether their star backfield performer will be in the Syracuse lineup. As for Warmbein, he is certain he will be.

Warmbein's presence or absence may mean the difference between defeat or victory. The St. Joseph boy is not only the best passer in the backfield and one of the best running backs but is also a great defensive man. Outside of Al Agett, he is the best punter on the squad and Agett is not good enough in other departments of play to be used a great deal.

Syracuse has such a powerful offensive that the secondary is apt to get its greatest test of the season aaginst the orange. State needs Warmbein Saturday more than any other time this year.

KIPKE TURNS HARD BOILED

Tells Wolverines They Can Quit if They Dislike to Play

BY MERLE OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP)—The usually soft-spoken Harry Kipke turned "hardboiled" today, sent the Michigan varsity through a stiff scrimmage against the freshment and when the regulars' running attack bogged down issued an invitation for "anyone who doesn't want to play football" to retire from the squad.

The result was anything but salubrious for the yearlings, who were shoved about the gridiron on a series of touchdown marches. Vince Aug, sophomore halfback, was removed from the lineup after fumbling, but when he had loafed on the sidelines ten minutes returned to the fray and charged through the frosh line for 50 yards and a touchdown.

Frosh Steal Show

Then the varsity withdrew from the scrimmage to study Wisconsin plays preparatory to Saturday's meet, and the second-stringers went in against the freshment but failed to gain ground. The yearlings stole the ball and made one touchdown.

With Joe Ellis and Russ Oliver out because of injuries two sophomores, Dave Barnett and Harry Pillinger, have been advanced to positions of first call substitute backs. Both showed running ability against the freshmen today and are likely to see service against the Badgers.

At the close of the workout, Coach Kipke expressed satisfaction with the progress shown by the varsity, especially in the blocking department. He still is looking for a forward passer who can select a receiver and get the ball to him.

The Escanaba lineup will be strengthened considerably by the acquisition of Carl Nordberg who will don a suit to help the Hawks gain their desired victory over the Bears. Nordberg was added to the Escanaba squad last week but did not play against Ishpeming last Sunday because it was decided to keep him out of that game to prevent any possibility of injury which would prevent him from getting into the more important Soo Bears game. Nordberg will give the Blackhawks a powerful attack as he is a hard smashing ball toter, shifty and difficult to bring down. Also, he is one of the finest blockers seen on a local football field.

Roeder, the Hawks' outstanding lineman, will not get into the Soo Bears game because of the injuries he received in the game with Ishpeming last Sunday, but McGovern, former St. Joseph great end who now is playing at St. Norbert's college, will play with the Blackhawks here Sunday against the Bears.

WOLVES SEEK CARIDEO SCALP

Missouri Figures It Has Worst Grid Team in United States

BY CHARLES GRUMICH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Kansas City, Nov. 7 (AP)—Frank Carideo knows how it feels to be at the top of the football world—a bitterly ephemeral feeling it is.

For two straight years at Notre Dame he was the all-American quarterback, interviewed at length wherever he went, sought by autograph hunters.

All that is behind the stocky little man of Italian extraction is coach at the University of Missouri, is listening to a loud anvil chorus. The wolves are howling for his scalp as he attempts to lift Missouri by its bootstraps out of a football depression without the material to accomplish what would have been hailed as a miracle.

Lack of school spirit was blamed for the university's poor football showing, in an editorial in the Missouri Student, official campus newspaper.

Entitled "How long, Oh Lord, how long," the editorial declared there "is no excuse" for the team's failure to win a major victory since the fall of 1932.

"How much longer," the article asked, "is the University of Missouri going to be made to suffer the disgrace of having the poorest football team in the United States.

Three squads from Missouri have borne the Carideo stamp. The third and best, this season, has a single unearned touchdown to its credit, resulting when a guard fell on a fumbled ball in Chicago's end zone.

berg beat Frank A. Picard, his Democratic opponent for United States senator, by more than 50,000. Thomas Reed, of Shelby, was chosen lieutenant governor over Allen E. Stebbins, Democratic incumbent. Harry S. Toy, prosecutor of Wayne county, was named attorney general, defeating Patrick H. O'Brien, Democratic incumbent.

When Fitzgerald's lead rose above 50,000 Lacy sent him a telegram of congratulation and requested that all citizens cooperate with the Republican executive-elect in the interests of good government. Fitzgerald said that he will keep his pledges to the citizens of the state. United States Senator James Couzens, Republican, after the result of the election was known, made a speech before the Optimist club in Detroit in which he said "the things for everyone to do is show continued faith in President Roosevelt's policies. Abandon partisanship and aid the program."

Violent Swing

The swing of votes that finally shattered the two-year-old reign of the Democrats was violent. Early returns indicated an almost certain victory for the Democrats as outstate Republican majorities failed to measure up to expectations. The thing that made possible the election of Vandenberg and Fitzgerald was that Democratic hopes likewise were dashed in Wayne county balloting. Predicting an advantage in that county of 100,000 to 150,000 votes, the Democrats actually gained about 40,000, which was insufficient to offset the outstate Republican majorities.

In the process of demoting the Democrats to the minority party the Republicans reclaimed much territory lost in the Roosevelt land-slide of 1932. Many counties which cast heavy votes for Democratic candidates two years ago swung into the other column.

The election shattered all off-years. The total vote promised to be close to 1,200,000.

Stack and Fry, in apparently defeating two members of the Republican ticket, ran far ahead of their own slate. They contended with their opponents on even terms in many sections outstate and piled up leads that could not be overcome in Wayne county.

NEW DEAL CRITIC

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 7. (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, whose Republican victory in Michigan, Tuesday, projected him into the forefront of national Republican politics, announced tonight that he would continue to be an outspoken critic of the new deal movements he considered dangerous, and an exponent of the features he considered laudable.

"Liberal Republicanism," he said, "is called to serve the mass welfare of our whole people and the stabilities of the constitutional government in the true Lincoln tradition.

"In such a role it will one day deserve to return to national power.

"I am conscious of a sense of emphasized responsibility in respect to my new term of senate service, particularly in view of the results elsewhere in the nation.

"There must always be a vigorous and effective minority opposition under our form of government, not in a destructive sense, but in terms of constructive criticism and contribution.

"I have frankly told Michigan throughout my campaign that I consider the present problem to be to separate the good from the bad in the president's program; then to save and expand the good and condemn the bad. x x x This will continue to be my commitment."

A Ball Player's Vacation

Pity the poor ball player! He has to work short hours, gets good dough for doing it, and in the winter time, while frigid blasts chill the blood of northerners, he can spend his vacations in California, cavorting around with movie queens. Here is Ernie Orsatti, left, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, pedaling around with Lucille Lund, flicker star. Right is Vic Orsatti, Ernie's brother.

National League To Consider New President Today

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Without any indication in advance of what action they may take, club owners of the National league will hold a special meeting here tomorrow to consider naming a successor to John Arnold Heydler, who resigned suddenly last week after 17 years as president of the baseball organization.

Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants and a member of the board of directors which accepted Heydler's resignation, effective Dec. 11, said today no plans or procedure had crystallized, in advance of the meeting.

"Tomorrow will be our first real opportunity to discuss the whole situation," said Stoneham. "So far as I know, there are no outstanding candidates to succeed Heydler, nor can I say what may be done with a view to having the president reconsider his decision to retire."

SIWASH MAKES GRID HISTORY

Knox Hasn't Won in 24 Games; No Scores Yet This Year

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP)—Football history is being made at Knox as the sons of proud Old Siwash continue tradition started three years ago yesterday against Cornell.

Siwash has waged 24 consecutive games in the same fashion to gain distinction throughout the nation—distinction in defeat. If the team loses Saturday against Coe, it will have established a new national record for consecutive defeats, beating Hobart's mark of 24.

Only seniors can recall that famous afternoon on October 31, 1931, when Siwash downed Beloit, 7 to 0. That was the last time the bell on Old Main has sounded its victory peals Saturday afternoons.

The gloom that spread over Mudville when the mighty Casey struck out doesn't prevail in Galesburg, however. Each week the fans attend games in ever-increasing numbers, realizing that athletic history is being made. A stranger would think to look at the crowds that the sons of Siwash were duplicating the winning marches of Southern California and Notre Dame teams in their heyday.

Three coaches have been at the helm of the Knox teams during the record equalling losing streak. E. R. Jackson coached them in 1932. Major Leigh Bell had a similar misfortune in '33. Lloyd Burdick, former University of Illinois and Chicago Bears tackle, is the master mind at Siwash this season and the wags are telling him that he is doing even a better job than his luckless predecessors. During the past two years, Knox scored occasionally, but so far this season, under Coach Burdick, the team hasn't scored a point in five straight games.

BACHMAN CUTS OUT SCRIMMAGE

Spartan Coach Desires Full Strength for Syracuse Game

East Lansing, Nov. 7 (AP)—Charley Bachman ran down the curtain this afternoon on scrimmages for his Michigan State football team this week.

Anxious to avoid further injuries before the Syracuse game, Bachman limited the punishment for his first string today to a fairly heavy defensive drill. He then put his charges through a few minutes of a shadow offensive.

As a whole the injury situation showed decided improvement featured by the dismissal from the hospital of Ed Klewicki, Michigan State's "tough guy" of all time. The rugged end had been in the institution two days with an excruiating pain that shot all the way from his knee to the groin.

The big Hamtramack boy had been bothered all year by more or less serfous injuries but is always out there on the field at game time. For more than three weeks he has been suffering with a ruptured blood vessel in his arm. Incidentally, Klewicki, who is a senior, is playing the best ball of his three-year career in the present campaign.

Warmbein to Play

Howard Zindel, sophomore tackle, was still in the hospital with a shin injury but attendants assured he will leave the institution tomorrow.

The third member of the injury trio—Kurt Warmbein, Michigan State's best triple threat man in years—continues to improve. Coaches, however, claim they can't be certain whether their star backfield performer will be in the Syracuse lineup. As for Warmbein, he is certain he will be.

Warmbein's presence or absence may mean the difference between defeat or victory. The St. Joseph boy is not only the best passer in the backfield and one of the best running backs but is also a great defensive man. Outside of Al Agett, he is the best punter on the squad and Agett is not good enough in other departments of play to be used a great deal.

Syracuse has such a powerful offensive that the secondary is apt to get its greatest test of the season aaginst the orange. State needs Warmbein Saturday more than any other time this year.

KIPKE TURNS HARD BOILED

Tells Wolverines They Can Quit if They Dislike to Play

BY MERLE OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP)—The usually soft-spoken Harry Kipke turned "hardboiled" today, sent the Michigan varsity through a stiff scrimmage against the freshment and when the regulars' running attack bogged down issued an invitation for "anyone who doesn't want to play football" to retire from the squad.

The result was anything but salubrious for the yearlings, who were shoved about the gridiron on a series of touchdown marches. Vince Aug, sophomore halfback, was removed from the lineup after fumbling, but when he had loafed on the sidelines ten minutes returned to the fray and charged through the frosh line for 50 yards and a touchdown.

Frosh Steal Show

Then the varsity withdrew from the scrimmage to study Wisconsin plays preparatory to Saturday's meet, and the second-stringers went in against the freshment but failed to gain ground. The yearlings stole the ball and made one touchdown.

With Joe Ellis and Russ Oliver out because of injuries two sophomores, Dave Barnett and Harry Pillinger, have been advanced to positions of first call substitute backs. Both showed running ability against the freshmen today and are likely to see service against the Badgers.

At the close of the workout, Coach Kipke expressed satisfaction with the progress shown by the varsity, especially in the blocking department. He still is looking for a forward passer who can select a receiver and get the ball to him.

NORWAY DEMO DEFEATS LOTT

Prominent Negaunee Lawyer Loses in Race For Senator

Menominee, Nov. 7—John C. Wickstrom, of Norway, Democrat, yesterday defeated Clarence E. Lott, of Negaunee, Republican, for election as state senator of the thirty-first Michigan district.

Wickstrom carried two of the four counties in the district and lost the other two by margins insignificant as compared to his majorities.

Almost complete returns credited Wickstrom with a majority of 2,160 votes. He carried Gogebic county 5,290 to 4,302 and his home county, Dickinson, 6,420 to 3,521. His majority in Gogebic was 988 and in Dickinson 2,899, or 3,887. Lott carried his home county of Marquette by 835 and the county of Iron, where he once resided, by 892, a total of 1,727.

Lott had entered the primary by defeating State Senator Ray Derham, of Iron Mountain, by a ratio of about 12,000 to 6,000. It was conceded that beating him in the election would be a difficult, if not well night impossible, task. But early returns last evening left no doubt as to the outcome and at one time he was trailing in his home county.

Wickstrom has been a Democratic candidate before, or in the days when it was just a question of filling out the party ticket and abandoning any hope for success. He was postmaster of Norway for eight years under the Wilson administration, has been a member of the Democratic county committee and was chosen a presidential elector when Roosevelt was elected.

Wickstrom campaigned primarily on a pledge to revise the primary law so that a declaration of party was not required and to increase state aid for schools. He also proposes other welfare legislation and liberalization of the old age pension.

Relief Office Will Be Closed Monday

Due to the observance of Armistice Day, the county welfare relief administration office at Escanaba will be closed all day Monday, Nov. 12, it was announced Wednesday.

The announcement was made to prevent confusion on the part of those planning to transact business with the office on the holiday.

Is This Too Good For Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven helps in one. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist is authorized to guarantee it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

New Trial Denied Edward J. Johnson In Homicide Case

A motion for a new trial in the case of Edward J. Johnson of Gladstone, convicted of negligent homicide, was denied in Delta county circuit court at Escanaba Wednesday by Judge Frank A. Bell. Mr. Johnson was found guilty by a jury on Oct. 12. The charge was based on an automobile accident on Oct. 14, 1933, in which Johnson's car collided with one occupied by Mrs. May Miljour of Perkins and her three sons, Oliver, 22; Leo, 14, and Felix, Jr., 9. The latter died as a result of injuries received in the accident.

A fine of $500 and costs of $100, or the alternate sentence of six months in prison were imposed in the case by Judge Bell.

A jury, previously summoned for the court session this week, was cancelled. Default judgments and other chancery and civil matters were taken up in court Wednesday.

Government Will Buy Indian Lands

Michigan is included in the list of states where land may be purchased in the neighborhood of Indian reservations, by the federal government for the purpose of increasing the size of the latter. Other states included in the program are Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico and Nevada.

The land purchased will be largely sub-marginal in character, it was explained by the federal officials. Title will be retained by the government, but wherever feasible the land will be reserved by the government for the Indians to graze livestock thereon. The average price paid for land bought to date in other states is approximately $4.50 per acre.

DOUMERGUE TO RESIGN TODAY

New Strife in France Is Forecast in Crisis Of Government

BY JOHN EVANS
(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 7 (AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue "Papa" and "Gastounet" to most of France—leaves office at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The aged premier, his nine-months-old truce cabinet wrecked by radical Socialist opposition to his plans for reforming the nation's constitution, announced tonight he would present his cabinet's resignation to President Albert Lebrun.

Doumergue came to power amid storms, the bloody Stavinsky riots of January and February. He steps down amid political storms and amid dire forecast of new strife to come.

His mind is at rest, however, and he feels that the blame is not his.

"The situation is clear," he said tonight, after announcing his cabinet would meet for the last time at the Elysee Palace tomorrow.

"The responsibilities for breaking the political truce are established and I am more at ease. I go to the cabinet meeting tomorrow as calm as you see me.

"Naturally, if my ministers abandon me, I won't go before the chamber of deputies tomorrow afternoon."

A stormy session of Vice Premier Edouard Herriot's bloc of six radical Socialist ministers, at which they decided to maintain the resignations they presented yesterday unless Doumergue compromised, preceded the premier's announcement, which came to confirm what all Paris knew was inevitable.

The radicals would not back the premier's main plank in his constitutional revision structure that stripping the senate of power to dissolve the chamber and giving it to the premier and the president and Doumergue would not yield an inch.

The retiring cabinet head said tonight he would not seek dissolution of the chamber. That step, if he would get the senate's consent, would throw all the issues into the ops of the voters.

His majority in Gogebic was 988 and in Dickinson 2,899, or 3,887. Lott carried his home county of Marquette by 835 and the county of Iron, where he once resided, by 892, a total of 1,727.

Lott had entered the primary by defeating State Senator Ray Derham, of Iron Mountain, by a ratio of about 12,000 to 6,000. It was conceded that beating him in the election would be a difficult, if not well night impossible, task. But early returns last evening left no doubt as to the outcome and at one time he was trailing in his home county.

Wickstrom has been a Democratic candidate before, or in the days when it was just a question of filling out the party ticket and abandoning any hope for success. He was postmaster of Norway for eight years under the Wilson administration, has been a member of the Democratic county committee and was chosen a presidential elector when Roosevelt was elected.

Wickstrom campaigned primarily on a pledge to revise the primary law so that a declaration of party was not required and to increase state aid for schools. He also proposes other welfare legislation and liberalization of the old age pension.

Relief Office Will Be Closed Monday

Due to the observance of Armistice Day, the county welfare relief administration office at Escanaba will be closed all day Monday, Nov. 12, it was announced Wednesday.

The announcement was made to prevent confusion on the part of those planning to transact business with the office on the holiday.

Is This Too Good For Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven helps in one. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist is authorized to guarantee it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

New Trial Denied Edward J. Johnson In Homicide Case

A motion for a new trial in the case of Edward J. Johnson of Gladstone, convicted of negligent homicide, was denied in Delta county circuit court at Escanaba Wednesday by Judge Frank A. Bell. Mr. Johnson was found guilty by a jury on Oct. 12. The charge was based on an automobile accident on Oct. 14, 1933, in which Johnson's car collided with one occupied by Mrs. May Miljour of Perkins and her three sons, Oliver, 22; Leo, 14, and Felix, Jr., 9. The latter died as a result of injuries received in the accident.

A fine of $500 and costs of $100, or the alternate sentence of six months in prison were imposed in the case by Judge Bell.

A jury, previously summoned for the court session this week, was cancelled. Default judgments and other chancery and civil matters were taken up in court Wednesday.

Government Will Buy Indian Lands

Michigan is included in the list of states where land may be purchased in the neighborhood of Indian reservations, by the federal government for the purpose of increasing the size of the latter. Other states included in the program are Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico and Nevada.

The land purchased will be largely sub-marginal in character, it was explained by the federal officials. Title will be retained by the government, but wherever feasible the land will be reserved by the government for the Indians to graze livestock thereon. The average price paid for land bought to date in other states is approximately $4.50 per acre.

DOUMERGUE TO RESIGN TODAY

New Strife in France Is Forecast in Crisis Of Government

BY JOHN EVANS

(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 7 (AP)—Premier Gaston Doumergue—"Papa" and "Gastounet" to most of France—leaves office at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The aged premier, his nine-months-old truce cabinet wrecked by radical Socialist opposition to his plans for reforming the nation's constitution, announced tonight he would present his cabinet's resignation to President Albert Lebrun.

Doumergue came to power amid storms, the bloody Stavinsky riots of January and February. He steps down amid political storms and amid dire forecast of new strife to come.

His mind is at rest, however, and he feels that the blame is not his.

"The situation is clear," he said tonight, after announcing his cabinet would meet for the last time at the Elysee Palace tomorrow.

"The responsibilities for breaking the political truce are established and I am more at ease. I go to the cabinet meeting tomorrow as calm as you see me.

"Naturally, if my ministers abandon me, I won't go before the chamber of deputies tomorrow afternoon."

A stormy session of Vice Premier Edouard Herriot's bloc of six radical Socialist ministers, at which they decided to maintain the resignations they presented yesterday unless Doumergue compromised, preceded the premier's announcement, which came to confirm what all Paris knew was inevitable.

The radicals would not back the premier's main plank in his constitutional revision structure—that stripping the senate of power to dissolve the chamber and giving it to the premier and the president—and Doumergue would not yield an inch.

The retiring cabinet head said tonight he would not seek dissolution of the chamber. That step, if he would get the senate's consent, would throw all the issues into the aps of the voters.

NEW DEAL ENDORSED

THE state of Michigan, overwhelmingly Republican in its politics until two years ago, was one of but two states in the entire nation to swing definitely back to its earlier political complexion, at the elections of Tuesday. Vermont was the other state to report reinstatement of Republican officials. Progressives and Progressive Republicans elected their tickets in Wisconsin. California and Minnesota. In the remaining states of the nation, where elections were held on Tuesday, the Democratic party and the New Deal, won sweeping and most decisive victories. That victory is even more impressive when it is considered that Progressive and Farm Labor victories in Wisconsin and Minnesota constitute, as far as practical politics is concerned, added strength to the New Deal cause.

After one of the most vigorous campaigns in the history of this county, Delta continued to remain one of the most Democratic counties in Michigan, followers of that party sweeping into county offices its entire list of candidates, and taking the office of county clerk, which had survived the landslide of two years ago, in full stride.

In spite of the final verdict in this state, it was a smashing and a decisive victory for the Democratic party in this county and district.

HOLLYWOOD RESPONDS

INDICATIONS that the motion picture industry regards the public revolt against low grade pictures as a serious reaction are found in the report of Will Hays on productions planned for the coming months.

Mr. Hays lists a total of 278 pictures which producers are planning or have already begun. Of these 105 will be made from outstanding short stories and novels, and 49 will be made from outstanding stage plays. Among the remaining 125 which will be originals written by Hollywood authors, 34 will be musical productions 24 will be detective yarns and mysteries and 22 will be devoted to historical and biographical subjects.

Further encouragement is found in the fact that the works from which the productions will be made present an impressive list of noted authors, including Dante, Dickens, Poe, Shakespeare, Tolstoy and Dumas of the "immortals," and Barrie, Tarkington, Wells, Galsworthy, Walpole, Ferber and Pearl Buck of the moderns.

Although weird things have often resulted when the motion picture industry undertook to transfer the great works of literature to the screen, the unusual amount of good material which the producers have selected for future productions is most hopeful. Never before have as many outstanding works been chosen for movie portrayal. Furthermore, in the productions already started observers note and report an earnest effort on the part of producers and directors to give a faithful translation of their subjects.

All of these are signs that Hollywood has heard and heeded the public demand for better movies.

The public's part will be to support the better movies rather than the kind which have been protested.

AN OLD CONTROVERSY REVIVED

THE bitter controversy between Doctor Frederick Cook and Admiral Peary over the discovery of the North Pole is recalled by the British historian, J. Gordon Hayes, who now declares his belief that Peary did not reach the Pole in 1909. Cook and Peary were in the North at the same time but the former returned first with the announcement that he had reached the Pole.

The first man to interview Cook was Sir Philip Gibbs, one of the world's greatest reporters, then on his first major assignment by a London newspaper. Gibbs managed to be the only reporter on the tug which met the returning polar ship and Cook's glowing description at that time of the territory he had covered caused Gibbs to become suspicious and he so reported to his paper.

In his dispatch he expressed grave doubts whether the American was telling the truth. Eventually Cook's story fell to pieces and he was toppled from the high pedestal upon which a trusting world had been eager to place him. The announcement of Peary who followed Cook out of the North a few months later, that he alone had reached the Pole and that Cook was an imposter, added to Cook's discredit.

Hayes' disbelief in Admiral Peary's claim is based on the explorer's log in which he records having traveled 75 miles a day for two consecutive days in order to reach the exact geographical location of the Pole. Such a feat was impossible in Hayes' opinion, thus forcing him to the belief that Peary did not attain his goal "by 50 miles or more."

Future historians of repute, in their consideration of Peary's feat, are not likely to quibble over the possibility of error as disclosed by Hayes' investigation. Recorded history will continue to show that Admiral Peary, the man who refused to fail, finally fought his way through to the North Pole—the first man to stand on top of the world.

THE DANGEROUS DRUNKEN DRIVER

IT MAY be necessary to take still more drastic action with respect to drunken automobile drivers on the highways. It may be necessary, also, to do something about the small high-speed cars which have become such a dangerous and potential instrument of death in the hands of those who mix their alcohol and gasoline.

Insurance statistics are disclosing a new and startling situation arising since repeal. Casualty companies report that we are now killing every day at least 10 times as many persons as the result of accidents caused by drunken drivers and that in far too many cases these deaths are among the young men and women and children of our cities and towns.

This accident rate is being driven up, says the report, both by drinking and by small high-speed cars, but what proportion of the blame should be borne by liquor, what by speed, is now being worked out by the complicated statistical machinery used by insurance companies to make rates.

Whatever be the result of ensuing investigation, one thing is certain. The worst possible enemy to highway safety is the small fast car in the hands of the drunken driver.

If the curve of mishaps of this character continues to mount, statutory regulations must be revised to meet it in some way or another.

We used to go out and bring home the bacon. Nowadays we expect to have it delivered.

Just another way of reminding you—the Postoffice Department says it will make deliveries on Christmas.

The Republicans may be right in their contention that politics is being mixed with relief, but that wouldn't be so bad if it were relief from politics.

Young King Peter of Yugo-Slavia is now head of the army, although he can hardly be said to have been graduated from his soldier toys.

A special black shirt organization is provided in Italy for boys as young as 6 years. Soon Mussolini will see that all boys are born in black shirts.

There are more private yachts than ever before, says an official report. So that's where prosperity went!

President Roosevelt took in the motor code for an overhauling and greased it up for winter operation.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

by CARLETON KENDRAKE ©1934 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER XXX

Sidney Griff emerged from the row of telephone booths and waited impatiently until Bleeker came from an adjoining booth.

"Have you found out anything?" he asked.

Bleeker nodded, his face grimly purposeful.

"Racine," he said, "the detective, has located the Malone woman—that is, we think it's the Malone woman, although she's not going under that name right at present. She's located at 922 East Elm street and is going under the name of Blanche Stanway. Evidently Racine found out about her earlier in the day and kept his information under cover, because he went to the Palace hotel and waited there for 15 minutes. At the end of that time a woman joined him. From the description, I gather that it's Mrs. Frank B. Cathay. Together, they went to call on Blanche Stanway. They're still there. As soon as the boys got a line on them they telephoned a report in to the paper."

Sidney Griff frowned meditatively.

"We'll go there first," he said. "Detectives who are working for me have located Mary Briggs, the hitch-hiker. Naturally, she's important, but she's not as important as the Malone woman."

"Just who," asked Bleeker, "do you figure this Malone woman is?"

"That," Griff told him, "is something that remains to be determined. So far, I am working in this case on a theory and only on a theory."

"But you think it's going to check out?"

"It is checking out," Griff said. "What's the theory?"

"In every case," Griff told him, "there's some key clew—something that dominates all of the other clews — something that points directly to the motive for the crime and the manner of its execution, as well as identity of its perpetrator. The key clew in this case was the counterfeit crook."

"The counterfeit crook?" Bleeker asked. "Who do you mean?"

"The man who posed as the pickpocket, who had Cathay's wallet, driving licenses and credentials."

"Why do you say he couldn't have been a crook?" Bleeker asked.

"Observe carefully," Griff told him. "I do not say the man is not a crook. I say that he was a counterfeit crook. In other words, he was posing as a pick-pocket and yet he was no pick-pocket, as even casual examination of the evidence would have shown."

"How do you mean?"

"He gave a very fair imitation of Cathay's signature at the police station. He gave a fairly accurate imitation of Cathay's signature when he registered at the hotel."

"He might have been a forger," Bleeker pointed out.

"Those things," Griff said, "take practice. But mark you, here is the most significant thing of all. He cashes a check at the hotel where he is registered under the name of Frank B. Cathay, and that check passed through the bank at Riverside. Moreover, he went to the hotel to keep an appointment with Harry Fancher, an inventor. That appointment had been made in advance, on stationery which either came from Cathay's office in Riverview or else was printed with consummate care so as to duplicate such stationery. Moreover, that letter seems to have been signed by Cathay.

"Therefore, this pocket-picking was no casual lifting of a purse. It was a part of a carefully planned scheme, a scheme which would have worked to perfection if the man hadn't taken a couple of drinks. He was stopped for a minor traffic violation. The officer smelled liquor on his breath and found that his description checked with that of a man who had been holding up service stations. The officer took him to the station for examination.

"Now, notice carefully what happened next. This man who had taken such pains to assume the identity of Frank B. Cathay now took equal pains to deny that identity. Only when he was surprised into betraying it by a check-up on the name under which he had rented the automobile, did he admit the name of Cathay. Yet, as was shown by subsequent developments, he had only to proclaim himself as Cathay to bring about his immediate release.

"However, we're wasting valuable time talking over clews while there's work to be done, so let's get to work."

"But look here," Bleeker demanded, "you don't have any doubt that Kenneth Boone and the girl, between them, were the ones who killed Morden, do you?"

"As to that," Griff said, "we are going to make some interesting and I think some rather startling discoveries. Come, let's see if we can't get to 922 East Elm street before the conference breaks up. It may be a conference that is worthy of our careful attention."

Much puzzled, Bleeker followed the criminologist to a taxicab.

"Remember," he said, when the cab was swaying through the streets, making speed toward the destination where the detective and the widow of the Riverview financier had been located, "that I'm running a newspaper. I'm a man of action. I don't go in for a lot of refined theories; I go in for action. The faster the action, the better I like it. I'm inclined to go ahead and do what I want to first and check up on the mistakes afterwards. I find that I can get to a destination quicker by moving around and doing things than I can by sitting down and waiting for things to happen. Morden was a newspaper man. He was a good one. He had a knowledge of crime and of criminals which he had obtained by first-hand observation. He was murdered. I want to prosecute those murderers. You've got the newspaper standing squarely behind you."

Griff nodded thoughtfully. "I understand all that," he said. "and further, I understand that Morden was a good reporter. He knew his criminals—knew them very well, indeed."

"Not quite well enough," Bleeker said grimly.

Griff's retort was significant. "Perhaps too well," he said.

They rode for a minute or two in silence and then Griff said sadly, "It will be one of my greatest regrets that in solving this case there is one thing which we shall probably never discover."

"What is that?" Bleeker inquired.

"That is whether Morden merely blundered upon the discovery which led to his death, or whether he figured it out by a process of reasoning that was at least brilliant."

"He was not a brilliant man," Bleeker said. "He was a daring man and he was resourceful, but he was not brilliant."

Griff closed his eyes. Slowly he shook his head from side to side.

"I am not certain," he said. "At times I feel that he must have been brilliant. It is, perhaps, something we shall never discover."

"What are you referring to?" Bleeker asked. "The location of Esther Ordway?"

"Not that," Griff said.

"Do you think that he knew she was Cathay's daughter?"

"As to that, we cannot say, but I am inclined to think he did not," Griff said. "The evidence all points to the fact that he was traling Cathay, trying to find what Cathay was doing on that Monday night. He had no luck with the hotels or, perhaps, he simply disregarded the hotels and concentrated his search upon the garages. It is a good point, one that I shall remember."

"How," asked Bleeker, "did you know that she was Cathay's daughter?"

THE YET UNSEEN

Now half the wonder of the world lies under
The solemn earth, no longer garbed in green;
Yet, as one passes o'er the withered grasses,
He sees the beauty of the yet unseen.
His heart discloses to his eye the roses,
Although the roses long must wait to be;
What storms have found him or what snows surround him,
He sees the beauty that he cannot see.

And as with small things, so it is with all things,
The larger labor or the greater grief:
The hardest duty shall reveal its beauty,
And even sorrow strengthen our belief.
Tho soul sees clearer and the heart brings nearer
The heights we see not than the hills we gain;
Eyes disbelieve them, but our souls perceive them,
Unto the heart made manifest and plain.

WHAT'S COME OVER FRECKLES LATELY? HE SEEMS TO ACT SO STRANGELY!
HE'S TERRIBLY DISAPPOINTED BECAUSE HE FAILED IN HIS HISTORY EXAMINATION!
SINCE WHEN HAS HE TAKEN HIS STUDIES SO SERIOUSLY?
IT ISN'T HIS STUDIES SO MUCH... IT'S THE IDEA THAT HE CAN'T PLAY ON THE FOOTBALL TEAM.
WHAT'S FOOTBALL ANYWAY! WHY, TO ME, IT'S JUST A GAME IN WHICH ONE SIDE OF THE STADIUM WANTS TO SEE ELEVEN MEN LAID OUT, AND THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STADIUM WANTS TO SEE ELEVEN MEN LAID OUT!
BUT TO FRECKLES, IT'S THE BIGGEST THING IN HIS LIFE, RIGHT NOW. HE LOVES IT!
I'LL SAY HE DOES! WHY, I WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED TO SEE THAT KID STOP EATING PORK CHOPS, 'CAUSE THEY MIGHT HAVE GROWN UP TO BE FOOTBALLS!

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Stocks took the upward path today after hesitating at the crossroads in the forenoon as Well Street digested the election results.

A comparatively heavy wave of buying in the last hour swelled the day's turnover to 1,111,090 shares, the largest since October 11, in contrast with 759,000 Monday, before the election holiday.

Most speculative markets gave expression to inflationary impulses, attributed partly to interpretation of the new deal victory at the polls as meaning additional heavy government spending.

U. S. Bonds Ease

Favored by an improved technical position as a result of recent declines, some commodities outdistanced stocks in vigor on the advance. Wheat futures rose 2½ to 4 1-8 cents a bushel at Chicago. Cotton gained .80 to $1.10 a bale. Hides and rubber were among the strong markets.

United States government bonds eased but most corporate bonds were steady to firm in quiet dealings.

Brokers with foreign connections said there had been increased demand for American shares from Europe. They ascribed the buying from that source in part to precautions against the possibility of a breach in the gold bloc's front.

The Democratic sweep to victory did not surprise the financial community, as was apparent in the slow, routine movements of shares in the forenoon. But, in the absence of liquidation, fresh buying of speculative issues quickened interest in stocks and the recent slow advance was resumed at a faster pace in late trading.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO EGGS
Chicago, Nov. 7—Eggs 2,665 (2 days) easy; extra firsts, 27½ to 28; fresh graded firsts, 26 to 27; current receipts, 23½ to 25½; refrigerators, firsts 21, standards 21½, extras 21 3-4. No egg sales.

CHICAGO BUTTER
Chicago, Nov. 7—The butter market today was steady.

CHICAGO POTATOES
Chicago, Nov. 7—Potatoes 73, on track 230, total U. S. shipments 630; supplies liberal northern stock, demand and trading slow, account heavy truck receipts, market dull.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Nov. 7—Sudden broadening of speculative demand ran wheat prices up more than 4 cents a bushel late today to above $1.00 a bushel.

Wheat closed buoyant at the day's top level, 2½ to 4 1-8 cents above Monday's finish. May .99 7-8 to 1.00, corn 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 up, May 80½ to 80 5-8, oats 3-4 to 1½ advanced, and provisions at 17 to 30 cents gain.

Both December and May wheat in Chicago soared to $1.00 a bushel or over for the first time since the middle of October. From the outset of today's trading, grain prices showed an advancing trend, and bulls contended that the election results would at least clarify the future outlook.

Corn advances though, were first to get under way. Eastern and Chicago purchasing of corn was associated with unsatisfactory husking returns and with high prices paid in the country by feeders. Oats and rye followed corn.

Provisions all went to a new high price record for the season, largely responsive to grain strength.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, Nov. 7—Hogs 29,000, including 11,000 direct; slow, 10 to 15 lower than Tuesday; 220 to 320 lbs., 5.75 to 5.85; top, 5.95; 170 to 210 lbs., 5.25 to 5.75; light lights, 4.50 to 5.15; good slaughter pigs, 3.00 to 4.00; packing sows, mainly 5.40 to 5.65; shippers took 1,000; estimated holdover 3,000.

Cattle, 3,000 commercial, 500 government; calves, 2,500 commercial, 200 government; strictly good and choice steers and yearlings steady; all others unevenly steady to 15 lower; mostly 10 to 15 off on in-between grade yearlings and similarly conditioned weighty steers, fairly active trade considering liberal receipts and substantial advance scored earlier in week all other classes steady, it being largely a steer run; bulk fat steers, 6.75 to 9.25; top, 10.00; best light steers, 9.10; heifer yearlings up to 8.40.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Secondary issues rallied sharply in the final hour of trading in the bond market today but prime investments, including U. S. government loans, continued in the narrow range established in earlier dealings.

Transfers aggregated $12,721,000, par value, compared with $8,177,000 on Monday. Government bonds accounted for around $4,210,000 of this compared with $1,200,000 the day before. Standard Statistics Co. average of 60 domestic corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point to $84.2.

Issues gaining one to two points included obligations of American Writing Paper, Boston & Maine, Bush Terminal, Certain-teed, St. Paul, Childs Co., Chile Copper, Colorado Fuel & Iron, International Mercantile Marine, Kelly Springfield, New England Railroad, Portland Gas & Electric and Studebaker.

A number of U. S. treasury issues sold as much as ½ point lower in forenoon trading but steadied somewhat later and shaded the losses. Closing prices were 2-32nds to 10-32nds lower in all groups except Home Owners Loan and Federal Farm Mortgage issues which were in fair demand all day and closed a trifle higher.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—The curb market finished on higher ground today. Prices moved up rather vigorously in the final hour following earlier indecision. Some specialties soared on light buying.

Volume was stepped up substantially, transfers approximating 199,000 shares compared with 146,000 on Monday. The list was narrow at the opening and some scattered selling appeared during the forenoon.

Singer Manufacturing rose 12 points on dealings, closing at 250, a new high for the year. Also on small transactions Quaker Oats got up 8 and Pittsburgh Plate Glass rose about 3. Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Newmont Mining, Carrier Corp., Montgomery Ward A and A. O. Smith finished about 1 to 2 higher.

"I didn't know," Griff said. "I watched her lips when she spoke. I knew that she was nervous and that she was lying. I knew, also, that her lies were not the swift extemporaneous lies of one who has been unexpectedly cornered, but that they had been carefully rehearsed. They were lies which were not impregnable, but they had been given to her to use for the purpose of delaying investigation until a certain thing could be accomplished."

"And that certain thing?" asked Bleeker.

Griff shrugged his shoulders. "It may already have been accomplished," he said. "Who can tell?"

"Don't you think you're all wet on that business?" Bleeker insisted. "Morden wasn't such a brainy man. He was resourceful. He thought of trying to trace Cathay through his car. He found the garage. In some way from the garage, he got a lead to the apartment house and someone in the apartment house gave him the information that he wanted. He, therefore, thought this young woman was merely a woman in the case, a person whose name might be linked with that of Cathay.

"He went to see her; she was out. He rode around, investigating other clews for an hour or so, and then returned. She was in. He talked with her. Kenneth Boone came in. Boone has a jealous disposition. He is hot-headed and impulsive. We knew he carries a weapon. Probably he tried to throw Morden out. Morden would have taken a great deal of throwing out. There was a struggle. Boone lost his head and hit Morden over the head with the gun. That's all there was to it."

Griff did not argue the point. "Perhaps," he said in a tone that was almost dreamy, "but let's not make the mistake of reconstructing our crime until we have all of the facts. Here's 922 East Elm street. We're going to get something here."
